U. N. Blasts Red Puppets for Aiding Guerrillas

Override Angry Protests

Albania, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia Hit

PARIS—(INS)—The U.N. political committee overrode angry Soviet bloc objections today and condemned Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania for aiding Greek communist guerrillas.

The Soviet satellite nations invoked filibuster tactics to forestall a vote on a four-power western resolution that was presented point by point.

Despite this, the crucial paragraphs two and three were adopted. Paragraph 2 accuses the three Balkan countries of assisting the guerrillas.

Paragraph 3 says that this situation "constitutes a threat to the political independence and territorial integrity of Greece and to the peace of the Balkans."

The third paragraph also condemns Greece's northern neighbors as guilty of conduct "inconsistent with the principles of the U. N. charter."

41-TO-ONE

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vishinsky ridiculed the charge, saying:

"It is absurd to say that little Albania has territorial designs on Greece. No sane person could accept such a paragraph."

After a morning filled with charges of "insults," important paragraph 3 came up for discussion. Of the nations in the Soviet group, only Poland voted, the balance abstaining. The roll call came up 41 to 1 in favor.

Ales Bebler of Yugoslavia cited passages from non-Soviet newspapers to support his claim that the political independence of Greece can no longer be threatened "as it already has been sacrificed to the Anglo-Americans." Bebler said:

"Laws enacted by the Greek parliament were drawn up at the United States embassy in Athens."

The atmosphere was tense and hostile throughout the session.

The committee, approving a western power resolution paragraph by paragraph, forged steadily ahead despite hour-long speeches by Bebler and other Communist representatives.

The committee's action was sparked by its chairman, Belgian Premier Paul-Henri Spaak, who manifested mounting impatience with the Communist filibuster tactics.

Spaak time after time overruled Soviet efforts to block a vote.

The condemnation of the Soviet Balkan satellites was made in a report by the U. N. Balkan commission, which Russia and her eastern European allies are seeking to abolish.

Several key paragraphs in the resolution remain to be voted upon.

Buildings To Close

All city, county, state and federal offices will be closed on Armistice day, Thursday.

Curtis L. Ford, acting postmaster, announced that there will be no city, rural or mounted deliveries on Thursday, but parcel post will be delivered as usual to businesses and residential addresses.

Factories, stores and other commercial establishments only may call for their mail at the post office between 7 and 11 a. m. This service will not be provided for individuals.

The collection schedule will follow the regular holiday routine. A business collection will begin at 8 a. m. and a residential collection at noon. A second business collection will be started at 4 p. m.

Announcement that city and county offices would close came from Mayor Roy W. Vaughn and John W. Selby, chairman of the county commissioners.

Banks will be closed on Thursday, but most business establishments will be open.

Students Build Grid Foe Trap

Mansfield Senior high students began today to build a "tank trap" which they hope will stop Hamilton Public high's Big Blue steamroller Friday night at Arlin field.

The Hamilton football team has won eight straight games and is rated second high in Ohio among scholastic grid clubs, second only to Canton McKinley.

Hamilton supporters are booming up their Big Blue as state champions and consider the Mansfield Tygers a chance for a "breather" before the Hamilton-Middletown traditional "big game."

Those are the things that have led the students at Senior high to go to work on their "tank trap." The students are determined to back the Tygers all out for victory and launched their "Stop Hamilton" drive today with announcement of the season's biggest pep rally for Wednesday night.

TOWN'S INVITED

The whole community was invited today to the rally, which is to be in the form of a huge bonfire Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. at Stadium field In an announcement going out this afternoon over the school's public address system, Mansfield students were called up to start bringing wood and boxes Tuesday to build up a fire of required size. They will be asked to complete the job Wednesday and preparations were underway for a rousing "back the team" program.

The Tyger Booster club was called upon for co-operation, and that organization is lending aid to the students. Booster officials came out today with an appeal for the whole city—adults and junior high pupils, to join with the senior students in their big push.

Dr. D. A. Weir, chairman of the Booster club's committee for Wednesday night's rally summed up the situation like this:

"Hamilton is figuring on coming to Mansfield for a 'breather'—okay, we're figuring on leaving 'em breathless."

Calls China 'Hopeless'

Yank Flier Says Leaders Sell Out

CLEVELAND — (AP) — An American pilot back from China says corruption in high places is causing the downfall of the Nationalist government in the north.

"The situation," says Arthur C. Young, 32, of Berea, O., "is hopeless."

He flew for the Chinese National Aviation corporation, a government subsidized transport line, and it was his job to carry relief supplies for six months to Mukden. He pulled out before the Communists took over.

In an interview, he said:

"The officials I saw were born, bred and brought up on the principle of corruption and face-saving. I saw town after town fall without a shot fired after it had been stocked to the limit with rice and ammunition until it would bring the highest price from the Communists.

"I saw soldiers sleeping with unconcern as the Communists closed in. They refused to help unload planes that brought in food and ammunition to save them.

"Their commander is dictator of his troops If he loses 10,000 men he reports the loss at 100 to save face and pockets the difference from the lump sum allowance he is given to feed and supply his men.

"The coolie who makes 30 cents a month is a millionaire compared with the soldier."

Young called American aid to Nationalist China "operation rathole" and added: "The future of China lies not in aid, but education and a change of the whole system."

Pay Boost Poses Big Problem

City Must Find Salary Funds

By SHELDON BINN

Drastic curtailment of capital improvements in the city and the possible enactment of a payroll tax by 1950 or 1951 loomed today in the wake of the voters' mandate that the salaries of city police and firemen be raised 29 to 45 per cent.

The problem is squarely in the lap of city council. Council won't have too much difficulty finding the $8,350 to pay the increase during December, but the problem will come to a head in January when council meets to draw up the appropriation bill.

A proposed 1949 city budget for general fund expenditures of more than $700,000 was pared recently by the county budget commission to $554,655. Police and firemen's salaries are drawn from the general fund and therefore the $98,300 increase in the city payroll must come from that fund.

Actually, approximately half of all the expected general fund receipts in 1949 will have to go for police and firemen's salaries.

This year, $120,000 was spent by the city for street improvements, including the relocation of State Route 13 around the airport and $46,000 was earmarked for construction of the No. 4 fire station.

1949 FUNDS SEEN

These are not recurring expenses, so funds for the pay increase in 1949 will be available inasmuch as those expenses will not occur next year. The problem, however, is expected to be more difficult in 1950.

The city started 1948 with an unencumbered balance of $210,000 largely because construction work was held up during the war due to the lack of materials.

At the end of this year, however, the large balance will not remain, and by the end of 1949, it is almost certain that it will be completely depleted.

Although funds would be available for the pay increase if the street improvement program is drastically curtailed, such action is not likely, as many Mansfield streets are in such shape that repairs are mandatory.

Therefore council, faced with the urgent need for capital improvements including such items as street paving and resurfacing must tackle in 1951, at the very latest, the problem of finding funds to continue to capital improvement program and at the same time pay the new salaries

The alternatives will be:

1. Amend the salary ordinance as passed by the voters.

2. Levy a payroll tax designed to meet the rising costs of municipal administration.

In either case, opposition will be great. It is not considered smart politics to change something that the majority of the people have decided they want.

And a payroll tax has met, in every city in Ohio where it has been proposed, with heavy resistance, especially from organized labor.

In addition to the problem of finding funds for the police and firemen's wage increase, it is likely that council will grant pay increases to members of other departments, thus making an already difficult problem even harder to solve.

GLAMORIZES BAND—Lois Schnitzer, Ashland college junior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schnitzer, of 344 Park avenue west, is majorette of the collegiate band which performs at the football games. Not only has Ashland a winning team on the gridiron but the Mansfield girl's acrobatic twirling ability adds color to home games. She spent two summers in New York City studying acrobatic dancing under Lou Wills. Her grandfather was a tightrope walker and juggler.

'We Are on Edge of Precipice'

Man Doesn't Want Peace, Pastor Says

By NITA BRANSON

"We don't have peace because we don't want it enough to fight for it," Rev. John Gensel, McVey post, American Legion chaplain, said last night at Armistice services in the First Lutheran church.

About 500 persons heard Rev. Gensel talk on the prospects for peace. The American Legion sponsored the services which opened the Armistice observance in Mansfield A brief morning ceremony and an evening parade are scheduled for Thursday, Armistice day.

Talking on "Lighted Torches," Rev. Gensel, pastor of St. Paul Lutheran church, said.

"We are standing on the edge of a precipice, trying to keep the torch of peace lighted with one hand and in the other hand we are holding a can of kerosene to help along war.

"When we want something badly enough we will get it. When we want peace badly enough, we'll get that, too."

"America," he declared, "is not mentally, physically or spiritually fit for peace. We don't want to pay the price Peace is the hard way and war is the way of least resistance.

FAITH NEEDED

"We don't have peace because we have lost the dignity of man. And finally we must light the torch on God. We fail because we are not sufficient unto ourselves It is only through God's extended hand that we can grasp His, only through His faith that we can get help.

"If we want our torch of peace to burn we must reach up to

30 Branded As Rioters

Pickets Told To Break It Up

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Thirty CIO pickets at the strikebound American Zinc Oxide company were declared rioters today in Columbus and ordered to disperse within an hour.

Franklin County Sheriff Ralph J. Paul issued the declaration and order after the pickets prevented his auto from entering the plant, closed by striking mine, mill and smelter workers since Aug. 13.

A much smaller number of pickets had been on duty until the company notified employes of its intention of re-opening today.

The sheriff announced that he had alerted special deputies and prepared tear gas bombs and other riot equipment for immediate use.

When the pickets massed in front of his car, Sheriff Paul read a section of the state law, and said: "I declare this assembly a riot."

Snorkels Score In Maneuvers

'Guppies' Cripple 100-Ship Invasion Fleet

ARGENTIA, Nfld.—(U.P.)—Eight Snorkel equipped submarines theoretically have sunk or crippled an entire United States invasion fleet of 100 warships including the battleship Missouri, the navy announced today.

Vice Admiral D. B. Duncan, commanding the navy's greatest postwar maneuvers in the strategic North Atlantic, said the speedy Snorkel submarines, called "guppies," had far outclassed the navy's wartime anti-submarine devices.

"Snorkel submarines in actual combat would have either sunk or seriously defeated our task forces before they could make an Argentia beachhead," Vice Admiral Duncan said. "They have far greater speed underwater than old types and the new breather tube makes it possible for them to remain submerged indefinitely."

Rear Admiral James Fife, commander of Atlantic fleet submarines who defended Argentia, was quick to point out that only eight guppies held the fleet back in yesterday's maneuvers in which more than 36,000 men, 500 airplanes and some 100 ships took part.

"Two hundred guppies could sweep the United States merchant marine from the seas," Fife said. He further pointed out that the Russians have nearly 200 of this type submarine, having captured the base where the Germans developed and built the Snorkel breathing tubes.

However, Duncan revealed that the navy has new anti-submarine devices "on the way" which will defeat the Snorkel submarine. He added that these new devices were already out of the experimental stage and that all that remained to be done was to equip the fleet with them and train personnel in their use.

Duncan came ashore here to confer with Fife and Rear Admiral Robert F. Hickey, commander of the Atlantic fleet air wings, on the effectiveness of the maneuvers. All agreed in the success of the defense measures.

Hickey reported that his long range bombers had been able to track the fleet through the maneuvers, directing the submarines to their targets. He also said that the patrol planes, equipped with new radar landing devices, had been able to take off and land in all kinds of weather. Fleet units taking part in the maneuvers included six carriers, the battleship Missouri, two light cruisers, 23 destroyers, two destroyer escorts, eight submarines, one subtender and many other supply ships and tankers.

Why Fuss? Asks Lilibet As Date Nears

LONDON — (AP) — Britons generally believe Princess Elizabeth's baby probably will arrive at Buckingham Palace Saturday or Sunday.

They arrived at that calculation from a mass of gossip, fancy and information available in London as world-wide interest in the impending arrival of the second-in-line heir presumptive to the British throne rises to a crescendo here.

The princess is in excellent health and spirits. "Why does everyone make such a fuss?" she laughed. "I'm not the only woman who is going to have a baby."

New Labor Law Looms Next Year

Congress Survey Indicates Change

By UNITED PRESS

A preliminary appraisal of congressional sentiment in Washington indicated today there is a good chance that Congress will pass a new labor law next year.

But it is unlikely that the lawmakers will agree to union demands for a simple return to the Wagner labor relations act and the Norris-Laguardia anti-injunction law.

Whether the Taft-Hartley law is "repealed" or merely amended promised to be little more than an academic question. It appeared certain that any new law would contain some of the provisions of the Taft-Hartley law, which in itself carried forward some of the provisions of the 1935 Wagner act.

Both President Truman and the Democratic platform pledged repeal of the Taft-Hartley act, and administration sources said this would be one of the first things Mr. Truman asks of the new Democratic congress in January.

Present plans, it was said, are for Mr. Truman to send congress a labor message calling for repeal and spelling out a new and "fair" labor law. Many government experts are convinced that several sections of the Taft-Hartley act will be kept, perhaps in modified form.

The Taft-Hartley act was written into law in the last congress by a coalition of Republicans and Democrats, largely southerners. Although the GOP lost control of congress in the election last Tuesday, the house and senate still will contain a majority who favored the bill. But some of those are willing to consider changes.

TRUMAN SWIMS

At Key West, Fla., President Truman looked forward to nothing more strenuous than a swim today.

Lounging under the warm Florida sun was just about the only other activity on the schedule for the first day of Mr. Truman's two-week vacation. He eventually hopes to get in some fishing, too.

Meanwhile the liberal and conservative congressional wings of the Republican party appeared today to be headed more and more for a show-down fight for dominance.

Sister-In-Law Says Wrights Were Right

LOS ANGELES —(UP)— Mrs. Lulu Wright, 84-year-old sister-in-law of the Wright brothers, finally decided today "the new contraption her air-minded relatives invented, is here to stay.

Mrs. Wright arrived here yesterday aboard a TWA airliner from Kansas City but said it had taken her 44 years to decide to fly.

She said she had grown up in the same block in Dayton, as the Wright boys, Orville and Wilbur, and finally married their older brother Reuchlin.

"Most of the children in the neighborhood rode in the early planes flown by Orville and Wilbur but I was a little uncertain of them," she stated.

On previous trips here to see her grandson, George Russell, she had always taken the train.

"But a lot of people travel by air and I thought it was time to try it out."

Payroll Padding Charged

Former Secretary Named In Scheme

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Rep. J. Parnell Thomas, New Jersey Republican, today was indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of conspiring to defraud the government by taking salary "kickbacks" from his congressional employes.

The indictment also charged Thomas with violating the so-called "false claims statute" by filing three pay vouchers with House of Representatives authorities for persons on his payroll who allegedly did no work.

The grand jury also indicted Miss Helen Campbell, Thomas' former secretary, on the conspiracy charge because she allegedly participated in the "kickback" scheme.

U. S. Attorney George Morris Fay said he would ask the court to set Thomas' arraignment for Tuesday, Nov. 16.

The indictment was returned before Federal Judge Richmond B. Keech.

'DUMMY' WORKERS

The indictment named a niece of Miss Campbell, Myra Midkiff, and Miss Campbell's maid, Arnette Minor, as the two "dummy" employes Thomas allegedly put on his payroll.

Since Thomas, chairman of the House un-American Activities committee at least until the new House organizes, was indicted on one count of conspiracy and three on "false claims," he would be liable to 32 years in prison or $40,000 fine or both, if convicted on all.

The indictment charged that the alleged illegal acts were committed from Jan. 1, 1940, to Jan. 30, 1945.

Thomas had charged previously that the investigation was a "political smear" by Attorney General Tom C. Clark. After demanding first that he be permitted to testify before the grand jury, Thomas later refused on grounds he might incriminate himself.

The indictment said that the purpose of the conspiracy was to make it appear that Miss Midkiff and Miss Minor were regular employes in Thomas' office.

Actually, it said, they were not bonafide employes because "they would not perform any work or services."

The jury said that it was understood that the two women would not retain any part of their salary but "on the contrary would turn over their monthly salary check to the use and benefit of the defendant, J. Parnell Thomas."

PEARSON STARTS IT

The indictment said Miss Midkiff and Miss Minor would endorse their names on their monthly pay checks and turn these pay checks over to Miss Campbell.

Miss Campbell, in turn, the indictment charged, would deposit these checks in her personal banking account and give Thomas her personal check for an equal amount.

The indictment said that the checks ultimately were deposited in Thomas' name in the First National bank of Allendale, N. J., where Thomas lives.

The investigation began following charges that the 52-year-old chairman of the House un-American Activities committee put certain individuals on his congressional payroll and then pocketed all or part of their salaries. These individuals allegedly did no work.

The charges against Thomas were first raised by Columnist Drew Pearson. The FBI investigated the matter and its findings were turned over to the grand jury on Oct. 22.

Dewey Taking Rest In Desert

TUCSON, Ariz. —(UP)— Gov. Thomas E. Dewey vacationed today in this warm desert city after his second unsuccessful bid for the United States presidency.

An enthusiastic crowd of 5,000 persons swarmed around when he stepped out of an American Airlines plane yesterday at Tucson municipal airport. "I am happy to be here, and astounded at the welcome," Dewey told the crowd.

The New York governor then got into an automobile for a 14-mile parade, with police escort, to El Conquistador hotel.

Reports Simple Way to Keep Tot From Punching Playmate's Nose

NEW YORK — There is a simple way to cure your child of punching neighbor children on the nose.

You don't have to appeal to his sense of justice or reason. You simply dress up like God, tell him you are God—and then whip the devil out of him.

A few experiences like that and your boy will grow up to be as mild as watered milk.

At least, says Dr. Weston Labarre, Duke university anthropologist, the Pueblo Indians—the Hopi and the Zuni—have used this system for centuries.

"Even very young Hopi children," he said, "when playing together do so with great peacefulness and an amazing lack of squabbles and outcries, which is almost wholly different from the familiar behavior of children in our aggressive, competive, individualistic society.

"The final reason, very likely, is the Pueblo technique of frightening and controlling children through certain religious practices.

"These, in brief, involve the Kachinas—tribesmen dressed up to impersonate the gods—who come ceremonially to the tribe at certain times and whip the children."

The god-whipped Hopi or Zuni grows up to be a mild, subdued and unaggressive Indian. On the other hand, Dr. Labarre told the national-committee for mental hygiene here, the Commanche Indians of the plains, who have the same racial origin as the Pueblo tribes, use no such controls in childhood. And they are among the most "savagely aggressive, and individualistic people one could hope to find on the entire continent."

Dr. Labarre believes that culture patterns — the manner in which children are reared — are far more important than any racial differences.

"The single most important thing in human cultural behavior," he said, is "literally and specifically the way we bring up our children.

"Man has the key to his own future evolution in his unwitting and unready hands. We are potentially able to shape any kind of human personality which an increasingly intergrated world requires.

"Do we wish to pretend that the synthetic motherhood of the male pediatrician and his bottles is superior to that old-fashioned mammalian invention, the breast?" he asked. "Very well, then let us cease to be surprised that our favorite psychosis, statistically, is schizophrenia.

"Is our society loaded with anxious, frustrated x x x individuals, over-ready at the first breath of cold reality to retreat into a dream world? Then let us look at societies where such individuals are a rarity.

"In most primitive groups, for example, because of their pediatric backwardness and lack of Frigidaires, a child is ignorantly suckled a minimum of two or three years — and worst of all, he is fed whenever he is hungry, in a hopelessly unscheduled fashion.

"Is the dignity, the inexpugnable security, the settled self-judgment and self-possession of such American Indians a surprise to us then?"

Dr. Labarre thinks native children raised in this manner have more fortitude in the face of life's shocks than the white man's bewildered offspring.

Unusual Means of Scene Stealing Keep Stage Artists on Their Toes

Show stealing is the grandest kind of larceny. No punishment and no penalty, as a rule, and sometimes a great press, and a mark in history, is the gamble. Boston audiences witnessing the opening night of "Lady in the Dark" caught a scene-stealing play that nearly closed out Danny Kaye. A double play miraculously saved the day. Known only to the Borschtelligentsia, Kaye went on in his solo spot, "Tchaikowsky," and brought down the house with his feat of enunciating the names of 56 Russian composers in 40 seconds. . . . Legend is that Ira Gershwin, show's lylicist, went out for a smoke and came back to find the patrons still howling. . . . Meanwhile, in her dressing room, star Gertie Lawrence waited and burned. No matter what happened to Kaye after that night, Gertie's star 'n' garter had to be redeemed, and quick. She kept her ladylike demeanor up to the saga of "Jenny" and then pulled all stops out. . . . The ensuing bumps and grinds have kept many an old lecher's heart warm through these burlesque-less years.

★

Danny Kaye himself recently had a chance to learn how it feels to have your thunder stolen, if only for a clappaudience or two. As Mr. Goldwyn's star moneymaker, Danny has been consistently partnered with frabjous Virginia Mayo. Ginny was a dobie enough playmate while they romped through "Wonder Man," "Kid from Brooklyn," and "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty." But after a change of pace as the petulant floozie in "The Best Years of Our Lives," Virginia's been feeling her oats. In their last picture for Goldwyn, "A Song is Born," she challenges Danny at his own game. Makes good, too. And how does Mr. K. like it?

But for every yarn like this there are a dozen involving dirty dealing. Frixample, the two femme stars sharing marquee billing. They upstaged each other with such monotony the end of the run found them both literally with their backs to the wall of the set.

Even the best of them are not above this tricky-business. . . . W. C. Fields was highlighting his celebrated pool table act in an early Ziegfeld Follies. The bibulous Fields almost resolved to swear off the stuff when the act that had served him for 10 years started backfiring. The yaks came in the wrong places or not at all. In a cold fury, he looked under the pool table for the cause of it all. . . . Ed Wynn lay there, mugging like a Perfect Fool. For several weeks thereafter, Fields went on without Wynn. Next time Wynn crept into the act, Fields let him have it across the noggin with the billiard cue. The audience loved it, and Wynn was a two-time winner.

In the distracting-gesture file, what about the movie extra who abstractedly ran her finger down one edge of the plunging neckline of her evening gown? . . . Or the ingenius feature player who made a drawing room entrance picking her teeth with a gold toothpick?

★

One of the funniest bits of business ever worked out was hit upon to counter another player's scene-stealing. Gravedigger No. 1 in a certain production of "Hamlet" used to divert the audience's attention from the soreheaded Dane by peeling off a coat with every speech of Hamlet's. He wore six coats. . . . One night his customary business brought double laughs, a louder one following each chortle for doffing a coat. . . . He wasn't having echo trouble. The second gravedigger was putting on the coats as fast as he took them off!

Six Bodies Of War Dead Returned

2 Mansfield Heroes Brought From Italy

Two Mansfield soldier dead and four from the city area are among the 375 Ohioans who are being brought back to this country from Italy aboard the US Army Transport Lawrence Victory, the war department announced today.

The Mansfield service men are Pvt. Robert V. Mace, who died on Oct. 21, 1943, while serving with the headquarters division of the 82nd division fighting in Italy, and Sgt. John B. Scanlon, who was killed in Italy on Oct. 20, 1944, while with a tank division. Both were 33 when they were killed.

PVT. ROBERT MACE

Pvt. Mace entered service in December, 1942, while an employe of the Mansfield Paper Box company. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Louise Freese; a nephew, Jack Freese, and a cousin, Miss Daisy Freese, all of 596 Springmill street.

Sgt. Scanlon was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Scanlon, 237 Ruth avenue. Besides his parents, he is survived by one brother, Robert at home; two sisters, Mrs. Mildred Sams and Mrs. Margery Leech, both of Mansfield, and one niece, Nancy Lee Scanlon.

Sgt. Scanlon was working at the Empire Steel plant when he enlisted Jan. 1, 1941.

Area dead and their next of kin include: Pvt. Harry A. Bride, Russell L. Bride, Bellville, R. D. 1; Capt. Raymond J. Drury, Alton J. Drury, 313 Woodland street, Willard; Pfc. Arthur G. Franklin, Lloyd Franklin, 15 Railroad street, Greenwich; Second Lt. Earl L. Urban, Lelia Urban, 631 Cleveland street, Ashland.

City Enjoys Crisp Days

Mansfielders yesterday may have taken their last Sunday afternoon ride in nice weather for some time(according to the weatherman.

Don't be too optimistic over the present weather picture, he warns. It's not the beginning of another Indian summer.

Although today's noon temperature was 54 degrees, one degree higher than Sunday's reading, there's a tendency toward colder weather, the forecasters predict.

There's rain in the picture for tonight and more showers scheduled for the middle of the week, accompanied by a drop in temperatures. Mansfield's temperature today skidded to 34.

Below zero readings were reported in the Rocky Mountain area last night.

ABSENCE EXPLAINED—

The absence of the First Lutheran choir at Armistice services last night was logically explained. The singers were invited to take part in the concert at the First Lutheran church at Shelby when a number of Lutheran choirs of the area met there to present a choral program. Twenty-six members of the Mansfield choir and their director, A. Lemoine Derr, drove over for the concert in which eight choirs participated. Comment on each of the choirs was given by Prof. John Bennett Hamm, head of the vocal department at Wittenberg college, who paid Mansfield's group some nice compliments. Prof Hamm said the Mansfield choir was "well balanced, sang with spirit, had good diction and its interpretation was fine."

Find Bullets 'Exploded'

CHESTER, Pa. —(AP)— Inquests into the deaths of eight persons killed by a crazed gunman were delayed today because the bullets fired in the victims' bodies had disintegrated.

Ballistics experts reported yesterday that physicians who performed autopsies in the victims of the shooting fray Satday found only small metal particles which could not be used for analysis.

Chief Detective Fred Jack said the killer, Melvin Collins, used .22 caliber stub-nosed long-lead bullet, drilling small holes in the nose of each slug.

The small hole in each bullet, Jack said, formed an air pocket causing the slug to explode on hitting the bodies of the seven men and one woman slain by Collins as he fired from his barricaded second floor room overlooking the Chester business district.

Jack said Collins shot himself to death after the other shootings.

Egypt-Israeli Talks Rumored

TEL AVIV, Israel — (AP) — Sources close to the Israeli foreigh office said yesterday peace talks are under way between the Egyptian and Israeli governments.

Commissioners OK Purchase of Auto

An entry on the commissioners' journal showed today that purchase of a new car for use of the Soldiers' Relief commission has the approval of the commissioners and Common Pleas court.

The car is being purchased from Bob Andrews, Inc., of Shelby, at a cost of $2,538, and paid for out of Soldiers' Relief commission funds.

Two Cars Looted At Greter's Lake

Rifling of two cars early Sunday at Greter's lake was reported to sheriff's deputies by Clyde Eberhart, watchman at the lake.

Eberhart reported at 12:45 a. m. Sunday that a man's hat and two women's purses were stolen from a car owned by Jay Staley, Mt. Gilead, R. D. 2. A flashlight also was missing from a car owned by F. E. Thoman of Crawford county.

PHILANTHROPIST DIES

PITTSBURGH —(UP)— John F. Casey, 76, philanthropist, civic leader and a nationally-known Republican, died at his home here yesterday.

TWISTER HITS AIRPORT—Two hangars were wrecked and nine planes demolished when a twister struck the Searcy municipal airport at Searcy, Ark. Parts of hangars and planes were scattered over a wide area. No one was injured and damage was confined to the airport.

Farm Bureau Meeting Set

Group To Elect At Tuesday Session

The Richland County Farm Bureau will elect trustees and vote a change in the organization's constitution at its annual meeting Tuesday at 8 p. m., in the Madison high school auditorium.

Members will vote on a proposal to change the constitution pertaining to the requisition of membership in the Farm Bureau.

These nominees will be submitted for election to the board of trustees:

District 1—Plymouth, Cass, Bloominggrove and Butler townships, Mrs. D. A. Kochenderfer, Mrs. Paul Kranz, Mrs. Mary Brook; District 2—Sharon, Jackson, Franklin and Weller townships, Ralph Oswalt, Orvie Dawson, Franklin Clever; District 3—Sandusky, Springfield, Madison and Mifflin townships, Oliver Rinehart, Ralph Hulit, Cliff Balliett; District 4—Troy, Washington and Monroe townships, C. R. Mengert, Ralph Darling, D. K. Wittmer; District 5—Perry, Jefferson and Worthington, Carl Cole, Maurice Fisher, Harvey Snyder; Youth Group—Chuck Clingan, Lyle Berry, Gale Kirk.

Delegates to the 1948 annual meeting are Elizabeth Grimes, Mrs. Paul Stuart. Delegates to the 1949 annual meeting will be elected and the nominees are Mary Gramley, Raymond Landis, Earl Huston, Faye Zackman, Mrs. Roger Kerr, Mrs. Nick Eichoff, C. C. Till, Ralph Lantz, Judd McCune, Jay Harriman, David Culler jr., Ed Smart, Julius Wolf and Clarence Tugene.

The nominees for the board of trustees are submitted by districts and will be voted on by the entire membership.

Plans will be discussed in preparation for the 1948 state annual meeting in Columbus Nov. 29 and 30.

Surgical Case Figures Dead

CANTON, O. —(UP)— Funeral services will be held Wednesday for Miss Betty Woolridge who died yesterday despite a medical history-making operation on her heart 11 months earlier.

The death of the 22-year old woman ironically occurred just 10 days after that of Dr. Horace G. Smity, the surgeon who operated to open the valve of her heart to permit blood to circulate.

A professor of surgery at the Medical College of South Carolina, Dr. Smithy was afflicted with the same condition but he reportedly died of pneumonia.

Church Announces $100,000 Program

Organization of a campaign committee to raise $65,000 for the remodeling and redecorating of the First Lutheran church was authorized yesterday afternoon at a congregational meeting.

This sum will supplement $45,000 already available for the improvements

The biggest single item in the program is the purchase of a $25,000 Moeller organ. The program also will include the installation of a new chancel and redecorating of the entire church.

Cost of these three items, according to the report of the finance committee accepted yesterday, will amount to $60,000. Since there is $45,000 in the fund, the remainder, or close to $15,000, will come out of the $65,000 for which campaign plans are to be made at once.

The balance left in the campaign fund is to be allocated at the annual meeting of the congregation in January. The congregation requested the church enlargement committee to report then on plans for the remodeling of the church basement to provide more adequate space for Sunday school classes.

ALTAR AT REAR

The new chancel of the church will conform with the traditional Lutheran chancel plans. The altar will be in the rear, with the choir sections on either side and the pulpit in the front.

Details of the redecorating are yet to be planned.

In commenting on the congregational meeting yesterday, Rev. Carveth P. Mitchell, pastor, said, "We had a lot of discussion, but the spirit of Christian cooperation was a fine thing."

Hear Talk On Atomic Energy

Atomic energy and the dawning new age will be discussed at 6:30 p. m. today by Walter B. Burg at a meeting of the Mansfield-Shelby Foremen's club at Richland Recreation Center. Lowell Moore is program chairman for the event and will introduce the speaker.

Burg, head of the department of chemical engineering at the University of Toledo, played an important part in the development of the atomic bomb and is considered by many as one of America's foremost authorities on atomic energy.

Motor Damaged

A fire in an electric motor used to circulate air at the Saratoga pool room, 31 East Fourth street, brought firemen from Central and No. 2 stations about 2 a. m. Sunday. Firemen said damage was confined to the motor.

100 Attend Open House

As a climax to Girl Scout Week and its special activities an open house was held Sunday afternoon, the first in the new Town House, 17 South Franklin avenue.

More than 100 friends and Scout leaders gathered there for tea and to view the displays of Scout handcraft. A musical program was provided during the afternoon by Mr. Joy Herbert, Girl Scout commissioner, who played the harp and by a women's string quartet, including Mrs. Scott Brown, Mrs. Joseph Pival, Mrs. H. F. Plaut and Mrs. Thomas Zaugg, all pupils of Joseph Pival, Mansfield violin teacher.

Members of the council presided at the tea table, decorated with old silver, orange candles and flowers.

The display of handcraft included clothing kits to be sent abroad, scrap books, and stuffed toys, all for children in the war-devastated areas. Miss Vivian Roberts, president of the Leaders' group, was in charge of the display.

Mrs. E. S. Fatkin was general chairman of the open house.

Stamp Honors Poppy Founder

A new commemorative stamp will be on sale at the Mansfield postoffice Wednesday, Curtis L. Ford, acting postmaster, said today.

It will be a three-cent Moina Michael stamp, in memory of the founder of the memorial poppy, used by veterans organizations for their annual street drives. The stamps are red and will be issued in sheets of 50 units.

The design contains the picture of Moina Michael, a poppy and the lettering "Founder of Memorial Poppy."

A total of 20,000 of the stamps have been received here, Ford said.

Grandchild Dies

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Frankeberger, 111 Parkwood boulevard, went to Columbus today to attend the funeral of their granddaughter, five-months-old Sharon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Frankeberger, 149 East Weber road, Columbus. The child died Saturday in Grant hospital.

Plea Set For New Congress

25 Divisions To Be Sought

WASHINGTON — (INS)— The army revealed today that it will launch a renewed and all-out demand for universal military training after Congress convenes in January.

A top military spokesman also disclosed that a "minimum security plan" has been mapped for increasing the army's presently-authorized 18 divisions to 25 by mid-1950.

The spokesman, who serves as an aide to Army Chief of Staff Gen. Omar N. Bradley, said that UMT demands will be revived because the voluntary enlistments of 18-year-olds have been "only about one-third of what was counted on—10,000 a month.

And further, UMT is the backbone of the army's plans for expansion during fiscal 1950.

Gen. Bradley's aide said that the seven-division increase is scheduled solely within the army's so-called "civilian components"—the national guard and organized reserves.

At present, the army has an authorized strength of 12 divisions-in-being and six stand-by divisions of national guardsmen and organized reserves. The new "minimum security plan" calls for 13 stand-by divisions of guardsmen and reservists.

REJECTED BEFORE

The last Congress rejected UMT and settled on the draft and voluntary enlistment of 18-year-olds who were committed to enter the guard or reserves after their initial army hitch.

But because of the slump in these enlistments, the service is having trouble raising the six ready-to-act "civilian" divisions. And defense officials feel that UMT virtually is the only way to raise an extra already-trained seven divisions during the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

Army officials said that Gen. Bradley plans to start the ball rolling for UMT in the very near future. Bradley will transmit the army's request for legislation to the secretary of defense who will in turn relay it to President Truman.

Spokesmen expressed confidence that the President will meet the appeal and request the legislation early in the year.

Two Sought In Robberies

A purse-snatcher who took a Columbia avenue woman's purse and $95 shortly before midnight Saturday and a thug who attacked and robbed a North Diamond street man of his billfold and $5 were sought today by police.

Mrs. Joseph Brizzi, 144 Columbia avenue, reported to police that a man ran up behind her as she was walking on West First street near Columbia and grabbed her purse. Mrs. Brizzi said the man then disappeared through a driveway, leading north from West First street.

About 1 a. m. Sunday, Ralph Jones, 87 North Diamond street, told officers that a man attacked him as he was walking on North Adams street between Third and Fourth streets. Jones said the assailant snatched his billfold during the struggle.

3 Shotguns Taken From Parked Car

Theft of three shotguns valued at a total of $156.50 was reported to police by Clyde Gephart, 4 East Second street, early Sunday.

Gephart told police the guns, which were left in his unlocked car on North Main street, were taken between 2:15 and 2: 45 a. m.

Tygers Battle Undefeated Big Blue

OUTDOORS

With

Mal Hartley

For 'lo, these many years, the Richland County Fish and Game association has been discussing the purchase of a farm. Everybody agreed it would be a good thing—but that was about all anyone did agree on.

But now the deed is done! When things did start to move, they raced along at a rapid clip. At the October meeting Gus Miller reported that he knew of a farm for sale that looked good for the needs of the association. Jim Burkhart, the president, appointed a committee to look at the farm.

Ralph Peat, Lowell Hamilton and Miller, the committee members, put in some fast licks and some hard work. By the time the November meeting rolled around, the deal had been arranged, and purchase of the farm for $14,500 was approved by the members Thursday night.

Basically, the action means that the Fish and Game association can now adequately perform the functions for which it is intended.

News of the purchase was published in Friday's News-Journal. But for the benefit of those who might have missed the article, I'll repeat that the property is known as the S. W. Barr farm and is located on the Shelby road near Springmill, about four miles northwest of Mansfield.

★

GAME WARDEN NO GAME WARDEN

Another matter of interest revealed at the Fish and Game meeting Thursday is that Richland county won't have a game warden before next summer, at the earliest. But the territory will be policed thoroughly by wardens from other counties.

That was the report brought back by Jim Burkhart and Gus Miller after a conference in Columbus with Conservation Commissioner "Buck" Rider.

A civil service examination will be held next June for the game warden job. Anyone interested should communicate with the commissioner at Columbus.

★

SWAN SONG

For me, the guy whose picture has done very little to brighten the top of the column each Sunday, this is a swan song. After filling in during the summer and fall, I'm relinquishing the reins of "Outdoors" to another writer.

This seems a good time to introduce him. Your new "Outdoors" reporter will be Don Miller, who came to the News-Journal recently as telegraph editor.

Don has been a feature writer for Outdoor Sportsman, leading southern sports magazine, for the past three years. He was an officer of the County Wildlife association, Pine Bluff, Ark., and is a member of the Outdoor Writers Association of America.

In addition to his reports on conservation and hunting and fishing activities in the local area, Don will from time to time tell some of the methods used by sportsmen in the South.

★

LOOK OUT, DEER!

Twelve Richland county hunters, one from Savannah and another from Akron, left Thursday and Friday for two weeks' deer hunting at Parolin's camp at Loring, Ontario, Canada. In the party were: William Ingram, Robert Landfair jr, Robert Landfair sr., Judge Stuart Cramer, Lee Stone, Dale Kaylor, Wayne McFarland, Verne Richey, George Pifer, Harvey Fleck, Ora Yoha, all of Mansfield. Dr Paul J. Lee Lucas, Gerald Lindsey, Savannah, and Okley Lee, Akron.

HOW ABOUT IT?

City officials doubtless have formulated plans for public use of the Clearfork area. Although no action was taken on earlier suggestions that planting of water vegetation and stocking of fish be turned over to the Ohio Conservation division this does not necessarily mean that this important phase is to be neglected.

However it seems only a matter of fairness to Mansfield sportsmen that the plan of action to be followed by the city be announced in detail. This would provide an opening for suggestions which might prove valuable.

★

MAL'S MUTTERS

According to a recent game poll, the deer population of Ohio is increasing rapidly. But who the heck is going to believe a poll? Ain't that true, man!

Hunting was good on election day. The Democrats bagged their limit of poll cats.

The last I heard, the Taft-Hartley act was suffering from labor pains.

The Democrats (those rascals) didn't practice conservation—of votes.

Grid Skeds Near Finish For Season

By CHARLES STINE

King football which has been emblazoned across local sport pages for the past eight weeks will bow out after this week's contests except for a few scattered occasions.

Among teams in the immediate vicinity only Mansfield Senior high will be in action next week so this is the big windup for all the rest.

Senior high, beaten twice in eight starts, gets its big chance in the final two weeks. The Tygers are scheduled against two undefeated clubs—Hamilton and Martins Ferry—and nobody will be disappointed if they are beaten in both. On the other hand, they rate an outside chance against both and could catapult into Ohio's top ten with victories.

HAMILTON HERE

Hamilton, No. 2 in Ohio, will be at Arlin field at 8 p. m. Friday in a game which might give Tyger fans a chance to hold the celebration they missed after the Massillon game. Next week, Mansfield goes to Martins Ferry, for the 1948 curtain-dropper.

Ranking next to the Hamilton-Mansfield game in importance is the Loudonville-Bellville game on tap for Bellville. The host Blue says, only unbeaten and untied team in this section of the state, needs only a victory or tie to notch the Mohican league title. A Loudonville win would result in a three-way tie among Bellville, Loudonville and Millersburg. Millersburg beat Londonville, 13-0 Friday and Bellville trimmed Millerburg, 20-6, early in the season.

Busiest team this week will be Bucyrus, which will play at Bellvue tomorrow and meet Madison at home Friday night. The Redmen, undefeated but tied once in seven games, can clinch their first Northern Ohio league championship by beating Bellevue. A tie in the game which was postponed by rain Friday, will effect a deadlock between Bucyrus and Upper Sandusky for the league championship.

TRIES FOR UPSET

Madison, beaten 26-6 by Wooster Friday, will be attempting to close its season at the .500 mark, as it now has a three won, four lost, one tied record.

The two teams with the poorest records in the area—Galion and Ashland—meet at Galion. The host Tigers have not won a game all season while Ashland has beaten only Shelby. Oberlin got its first win of the season Friday by beating Ashland 7-0, as the A's fumbled the ball 21 times.

Only Northern Ohio league game Friday will bring together Crestline and Shelby at Shelby. New London closes its season at Willard while little Plymouth moves to Cardington to ring down the curtain on its first football season in many years.

Hot Stove Junior Baseball Players To Be Fete Guests

Youngsters who participated in Mansfield's three Hot Stove junior baseball leagues last summer will be feted at the Moose lodge Monday, Nov 15.

Food and soft drinks will be furnished by several of the Hot Stove loop sponsors.

Stan Kamen, secretary of the Hot Stovers, announced that he is attempting to secure a prominent baseball personality as the guest speaker.

Two baseball movies will be shown. One will be the "All-Star Game of 1948" and the other the "World Series of 1948." The meeting will be for players, coaches and sponsors.

Nevada Bubble Goes Blooey

NEW YORK — (NS) — Football's big bubble was punctured today, but good.

The highly-touted Nevada eleven, after rolling up telephone number victories over pushovers, took the field yesterday a 20-point favorite over Santa Clara.

At the finish it was Santa Clara 14, Nevada 0 with the Wolfpack looking like George Gallup on the day after election.

Nevada, leading offensive team in the nation on the basis of yardage gained, thus was tumbled from the nation's list of unbeaten and untied teams along with Penn, Georgia Tech and North Carolina.

Brown Says Pitt Report Not True

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Today's edition of the Cleveland Plain Dealer said Paul Brown is being mentioned as a candidate for athletic director and football coach at the University of Pittsburgh.

Brown, who is coach of the Cleveland Brown's all-America conference team, denied the rumor. He also denied talk that he is being considered for the coaching job at UCLA.

Basketball Group Meets at Armory

The North Central Ohio officials association will hold its first basketball rules-discussion meeting at 8 p. m. today in the Naval Training center, Ashland road. Subsequent meetings will be held each Monday night.

Jack Robeson, Mt. Vernon official, will discuss new rule interpretations as they were given by H. V. Porter of the National federation last month in Columbus. All coaches and officials are welcome at the meeting.

Cleveland Barons Tie For Cellar

(By International News Service)

Cleveland's surprised Barons woke up today to find themselves in the cellar of the western loop of the American Hockey league and likely to remain there for the remainder of the week.

Only a 4-4 tie at Indianapolis last night enabled the Ahl's defending champs to pull into a last-place tie with Buffalo, but the Bisons probably will go ahead when they take on Washington in tonight's only game.

Colony Out of Loop Lead; Liederkranz Bowlers Win

Colony Alleys dropped out of first place in the Central Ohio Ladies Traveling league yesterday by dropping two of three games to Newark Housing Corporation.

Newark had 743-721-714—2,178 to take first while Colony chipped in with 728-692-754—2,174. Ashland Brad & Chuck Recreation was the team leader with 824-805-792—2,421. Ashland won three straight from Coshocton. Delaware won two of three from Lancaster and Mt. Vernon copped a couple from Zanesville.

Florence Scott of Ashland led the individuals with 218-198-162—578 and her teammate Mary Garver had 158-175-187—520. Helen Wilhelm led the Mansfielders with a 457 and Dot McDevitt had 453.

The matches were rolled at Coshocton.

Mansfield 5's Drop In Loop

Release of the Buckeye Traveling league bowling averages this week show Mansfield representatives to be dropping nearer to the bottom.

Sons of Herman did move up to minth place, but White Trucks, which was fifth dropped all the way to seventh. Scattergood's is still looking for its first victory.

"Tell me... do folks really think GUARANTEED STARTING is a good thing to have?"

"You bet they do! 96 out of 100 get it AGAIN... and AGAIN!"

"I've issued a lot of Sohio Guaranteed Starting Certificates for customers of mine. Each Fall the number goes up. Some new customers—and just about all of the old ones. You know—'the proof of the pudding is in the eating'..

"Funny, too, how customers change their ideas. New customers usually figure it's the Guarantee itself which is most important . . . that it'd be nice to have someone else pay their garage starting service bill. But after that first winter they get the real idea—and that's that Sohio products keep you rolling all winter, and that the Guarantee itself is just the Sohio folks' way of backing up their faith in their products.

"Sohio's willing to lay its money on the line to prove you won't have starting trouble when you use their winter gasolines and lubricants. Sohio knows those products will come through. If they didn't . . . wow, I'd hate to pay out what those guarantees would cost Sohio! Sure, folks like Guaranteed Starting. They get it YEAR . . . after YEAR. I should think you would, too."

Here's all you do to get GUARANTEED STARTING!

- Change to a Sohio winter-grade motor oil
- Change to a Sohio winter-grade gear lube
- Use Sohio winter-grade gasoline
- Let us check your battery at 1.250

Cleveland Browns Put Halter on Colts, 28-7

Edgar Jones Goes For 2 Touchdowns

CLEVELAND — (UP) — The Cleveland Browns today were favored to take over the undisputed All-America conference western division leadership following their drubbing of the Baltimore Colts here yesterday.

The Browns stopped the Colts 28 to 7 before 32,314 fans. The Browns have gone 18 games without an All-America conference defeat and have dropped only one of their last 30 games. Cleveland plays San Francisco next Sunday for the division title.

Edgar (Special Delivery) Jones was the kingpin in the Browns' defeat of Baltimore, chalking up two more touchdowns and sparking the Browns' offensive drive.

PASSES TO SPEEDIE

Cleveland scored the first touchdown with eight minutes of the opening quarter remaining. Otto Graham passed to Mac Speedie, who was run out on the Colts' four. Jones pushed it over from there.

The second Browns' tally came in the second period after a Colts' passing attack ran out of gas on Cleveland's 22. The Browns' score came when Marion Motley drove through the middle for 22 yards and the score.

The Browns tallied again in the third with Graham pitching to Motley and Speedie. A 37-yard toss to Speedie put the Browns on the Baltimore four, from where Graham tossed to Jones for the touchdown.

The Colts pushed to the Browns' 23 late in the third quarter but a 15-yard unnecessary roughness penalty set them back to the Cleveland 38 and the threat was ended.

FUMBLE SETS UP TD

Cleveland's final touchdown came in the fourth quarter when Lin Houston recovered a Baltimore fumble on the Colts' 20. An offside penalty moved the ball to the 15. Halfback Ara Parsghian then smashed through the middle for the score.

The Colts got their lone tally with seven minutes left in the game when Billy Hillenbrand took a pass from Y A. Tittle and scampered down the sidelines for a 69-yard touchdown jaunt.

Cleveland led the Colts in total offense, 414 to 224, mainly because Graham completed 15 aerials in 27 tries. Tittle had 16 completions in 34 tries.

BURNS LEAVES—Steve O'Neill continues cleaning up his front lawn at Cleveland, O., yesterday after learning that his contract as manager of the Detroit Tigers would not be renewed for the 1949 season. O'Neill received the news with hurt surprise and said he had not been informed by the club.—(AP Wirephoto)

Cleveland Pitchers In Final Exhibition

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— Satchel Paige and Cleveland Indian pitching mates Gene Bearden and Bob Lemon will match tosses in one final exhibition game here Wednesday.

Yesterday Paige's Kansas City Royals dropped one game 8-7 to the Bearden all-stars and won 5-2 from the Lemon all-stars.

Champ Ike Williams Goes Against Garcia

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)—Champion Ike Williams gives Buddy Garcia a fighting chance tonight to qualify for a lightweight title fight.

The obliging Trenton, N. J., belter who defends his laurels at the scratch of a pen takes on the persistent Garcia in a 10-round over-the-weight contest.

4 Teams Still In Running For National Loop Titles

(By United Press)

With four teams still grabbing for two titles, it looked today like the races in both divisions of the National Football league might go down to the final day of the season before they are decided.

As a result of games played Sunday, the defending champion Chicago Cardinals were still deadlocked with the Chicago Bears for first place in the West, while the Philadelphia Eagles held the slimmest possible margin over the Washington Redskins.

The Cards and the Bears each have five games left and they would be favored to win the first four of them. That would bring them down to the final day of the year still tied—when they meet each other.

The Eagles and the 'Skins each have five to go, too, with a Nov 21 meeting the possible payoff.

RUN FOR THREE

The Cards took care of the Detroit Lions yesterday, 56 to 20, in routine fashion. Elmer Angsman and Charley Trippi each ran to three touchdowns and Pitchin' Paul Christman returned to the lineup to throw three touchdown passes.

The Bears romped to a 21 to 6 victory over the Los Angeles Rams. Johnny Lujack sent Chicago off in front when he pitched a touchdown pass to Ken Kavanaugh on a play covering 64 yards. J. R. (Jackrabbit) Boone tallied the other two Bear TD's, while Jim Hardy passed to the Rams' only score.

The Eagles disposed of the New York Giants, 35 to 14. Tommy Thompson tossed two touchdown passes with Pete Pihos on the receiving end and Steve Van Buren led the Eagle ground attack by rushing 143 yards. Charley Conerly and Ray Coates passed to the two Giant scores.

Sammy Baugh passed the Boston Yanks dizzy for the second week in a row to give the Washington Redskins a 23 to 7 win. Baugh threw 28 aerials, completed 14, for 178 yards and two touchdowns

An unexpectedly devastating Pittsburgh Steeler attack plowed under the Green Bay Packers, 38 to 7, in the other league game The best play of the game came when Pittsburgh's Tony Compagno intercepted Jack Jacobs' pass on the Steeler 18 and raced 82 yards to score. Joe Glamp proved he could run as well as kick by uncorking a 55-yard touchdown run.

Tyger Booster Club Meets At Senior High

Just as the Senior high school football team is heading into the tag end of the 1948 season, the Tyger booster club grid meetings are nearing an end for another year

Tonight, Carl Henkel, Mansfield attorney, will address the boosters in their regular session at 7:30 p. m. at the Senior high auditorium. Also on the program will be a concert by the Marching Tygers The musicians of J Merton Holcombe will play for 20 minutes preceding the meeting.

Coach Augie Morningstar will give a scouting report of Hamilton's Big Blue and a resume of the Marion Harding conquest. A football autographed by members of the 1948 Bengal pigskin team will be given away at the meeting.

★

Tickets for the Hamilton clash went on sale today at Senior high and Moorhead's. Reserved seat ducats will also be sold at the auditorium tonight from 7 until 7:30 Officials expect a crowd of 12,000 for the game.

Decks Cleared For Biggest All-America League Action

(By United Press)

The decks were cleared today for the biggest action of the All-America Football conference season—the titanic clash next Sunday between the unbeaten San Francisco Forty-Niners and the also unbeaten Cleveland Browns.

The Forty-Niners, who ripped through the zipless Chicago Rockets on Sunday, 44 to 21, will go into the fray at Cleveland Sunday with a perfect record in 10 games this year, tying a mark set last year by defending champion Browns. Cleveland has won all of its nine games, topped by a 28 to 7 win over Baltimore on Sunday.

The Forty-Niners hardly needed to take off their jackets to whip the Rockets Yard-eating springs by Forrest, Johnny Stryzkalski, and Norm Standlee, coupled with Frankie Albert's deft passing, gave San Francisco a 30-0 lead at half-time and after that the Forty-Niners kept their first-stringers on the bench.

The belligerent Buffalo Bills took over the eastern division lead with a 26 to 21 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Bob Chappuis of Brooklyn broke a league record by completing 26 passes in 51 attempts. His feat overshadowed the previous mark of 23 completions in 40 tries racked up by Glenn Dobbs

With Pete Layden paving the way for the second successive week, the New York Yankees drubbed the Los Angeles Dons, 38 to 6.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Seamour, Fort Gay, West Virginia, are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Miss Audrey Seamour, to Charles Letts jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Letts, R. F. D. 6, Mansfield. The marriage took place Oct. 30 in Greenup, Kentucky.

The bride wore a gray-striped suit with black accessories and a corsage of pink rose buds.

Mrs. Fred Schulz, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She wore a black suit with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Fred Schulz, brother-in-law of the bride, served as best man.

Mrs. Letts attended Fort Gay high school and is employed at the W. T. Grant company. The bridegroom attended Springfield Township high school before entering military service. He is employed at Russell's Canfield service station. The couple are residing at 375 South Main street.

Benefit Bazaar Plans Completed

The Alumni Committee of the Women of the Moose met recently at the home of Mrs. Peter Herold, 452 Lily street, with 13 members and one guest, Mrs. Lloyd Hughes, in attendance. Mrs. Lester Garber served as assistant hostess.

Mrs. Garber, chairman, conducted the business meeting at which plans were made for a benefit bazaar to be held Nov. 10. Mrs. Dale Cantrell won the door prize and contest prizes were won by Mrs. George Shields and Miss Eva Mayer. Luncheon was served later.

The next meeting will be a Christmas exchange, Dec. 2, at the country home of Mrs. Charles Jarman. Mrs. Charles Beer will act as assistant hostess.

Mrs. Thomas Presents Pupils

Mrs. Martha Thomas presented her students in a piano recital recently at John Simpson auditorium.

Those who participated were: Patty Ohler, Beverly Morr, Anita Vaneff, Charles Bilbert, Diane Hanusz, Peggy O'Leary, Norman Gerger, Janet Hemperly, Virginia Casper, Luamma Stimmell, Patricia Walsh, Gene Curatti, Ruth Wagner, Gary Conlon, Caroline Kanz, Janice Hemperly, Janet Hemperly, Arthur Curatti, Antoinette Augustine, Carol Williams, Rheta Anne Ballentine, Ralph Miller, Martha Walker and Judy Ross.

Coterie Club Entertained

Mrs. G B Garrison, Western avenue, entertained members of the Coterie club at her home Friday with a luncheon at 1 o'clock. Mrs. C. L. Mitchell conducted the business session and Mrs. F. E. Bair led the current events.

"Land of Pilgrim's Pride" by Lillie, was reviewed by Mrs. James Trine. The next meeting will be held Dec. 3 at the home of Mrs. Mitchell, Poplar street.

LUNCHEON MEETING

On Tuesday the Pilgrim guild of First Congregational church will meet for a 1 o'clock luncheon at the parish house. The hostess chairman will be Mrs. F J. Schuster. She will be assisted by Mrs. T. Y. McCray, Mrs. D. P. Smith, Mrs. W. W. Stark, Mrs Eloise Buchan, Mrs. W. G Carr, Mrs. George Kirtley, Mrs. M. G. Madden, Mrs. W B Osborn, Mrs. R. W Parsons, Mrs W. H. McLelland, Mrs. G W. Stephens and Mrs. Relmond Shaffer.

ENTERTAINS FOR BRIDE

Mrs. Victor Ohly, 63 Glenwood boulevard, entertained Nov. 5 with a post-nuptial shower for Mrs Lester McNeely, the former Rebecca Moore, of Lucas. The 25 guests were served luncheon and decorations were carried out in the color scheme of pink and blue.

MEET TONIGHT

The regular business meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the American Legion, Post No. 16, will be held tonight at 8 p. m. at the American Legion home. Memorial services will be held for the late Mrs. Ruth Kahl.

TUESDAY MEETING

The regular meeting of the Past Presidents club of the Mary B. Mitchell Tent No. 40 will be held tomorrow at 4:45 p. m. at Memorial hall.

Additional Society

★

Book Reviewed By Mrs. Chase At Meeting

Mrs. William Kuhn, 425 Marion avenue, was hostess to the Art Study club with Mrs. J. E. Smith and Mrs. Charles Chew as associate hostesses.

Twenty-three members and two guests, Mrs. C. W. Handley and Mrs. Robert S. Kuhn, were present.

The program, "Charms of Old Glass and China," was given. Mrs. Harry Buchan introduced Mrs. B. L. Chase, guest speaker, who reviewed the book, "Collector's Luck In France" by Alice Van Leercarrick.

Tea was served from a table centered with an arrangement of white mums surrounded by California grapes. White candles in silver holders were placed on each side of the centerpiece. Mrs. Handley and Mrs. Kuhn presided at the table.

The next meeting will be Nov. 19 at 2 p. m. at the Women's club. This meeting will be on "American Textiles" with Mrs. Irma Anderson as the guest speaker. Mrs. Anderson, creator of textiles, is from the Ohio State Museum in Columbus. Mrs. C. M. Crafton, Mrs. Fred Dippman and Miss Lillian Dickson will be the hostesses.

There will be no meeting of the Dolly Madison club this week, as previously scheduled. Instead members will jin with other Democrats in a Victory dinner Wednesday evening at the Sons of Herman hall.

Miss Rooney Speaks to Club

Miss Margaret Rooney, executive secretary of the Mansfield Girl Scouts, was the guest speaker Friday at the meeting of the Timely Topics club. She gave an interesting talk on "A Tour of Ireland."

Mrs. Jerome Hanley was hostess to the group at the Women's club for the guest meeting. Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock. Guests in attendance were Mrs. Roger Bolin, Mrs. Clyde Kessel, Mrs. Joseph Reifenberg, Mrs. Louis Ott, Mrs. Pat Kelly, Miss Roosney and Mrs. W. C. Kessler.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 19 at the Women's club with Miss Carolyn Walter as hostess for the luncheon.

Bible Class Honors Mrs. Smythe

Ten former members and six guests of the Edwin Mansfield Bible class of the First Presbyterian church met at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Smythe, 479 Marion avenue, Sunday afternoon, for a birthday party for Mrs. Smythe. Misses Edna, Vera and Barbara Smythe, daughters of the honoree, were the hostesses.

Mrs. Edwin Mansfield presided at the table decorated with mums. Two ivory candles were placed on each side of the centerpiece.

Mrs. W. C. Fort gave several readings and Miss Mildred Cook entertained with piano selections.

The guests presented Mrs. Smythe with lovely gifts.

China Missions Heads Program

Circle Three of the First Presbyterian church met recently in the church parlors with Mrs. Merrill Manz jr., Mrs. Ivor Balyeat and Mrs. C. W. Casperson as associate hostesses.

The dessert luncheon was served from tables decorated with fall flowers and lighted tapers.

Mrs. Clarence Netting, president, conducted the regular business session.

Mrs. Emma Norton was in charge of devotions. Mrs. J. B. Lindley gave a short talk on China. She told how the missions are kept going under the communist rule in parts of China.

The guild meeting will be Nov. 18. There will be a thank offering at this time.

The next circle meeting will be Dec. 2 at the home of Mrs. W. R. King, Edgewood road.

Carey Wins Open

HONOLULU —(AP)— Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, won the $10,000 Hawaiian open golf tournament. He shot 72-hole 10-under-par 274 to win the $2,000 first place money. Johnny Bulla, Phoenix, Ariz., was second with 277 and Lloyd Mangrum, Chicago, third at 281.

Important Part

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Ohio State, with an already successful season of five wins against two losses under its belt, prepares this week for the tail-end and most important part of its whole schedule—Illinois and Michigan.

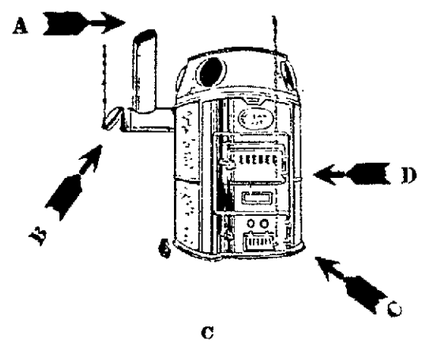
A PUBLIC SERVICE

To All Coal Furnace Owners

A complete fuel saving analysis at our expense and your convenience. A campaign directed toward maintaining the good will of home owners, while effecting maximum efficiency of operation in your heating plant.



A

Checking smoke pipe and visible portion of castings for fire or health hazards. Cracked castings, or a leaking smoke pipe due to improper fit or rusting, is the principal cause of smoking furnaces.

B

Adjustment of check. The check acts in conjunction with the draft lid (c) to regulate the amount of air pulled through the fuel bed. (B) and (C) must be set to work together.

C

Adjustment of draft lid. Surplus air flowing through draft lid into fuel bed results in wasted heat through the stack (A) and excessive use of fuel.

D

Adjustment of secondary air opening, which controls flow of air over top of fuel bed, and regulates consumption of smoke and volatile gases from fuel bed. The quantity of volatile in the coal used determines the setting of the air opening.

The latest and most scientific precision instrument is used in measuring and regulating the furnace draft for maximum efficiency. Firing instructions for your specific type of furnace are explained fully.

12,000 Held Behind Wire On Cyprus

Despair Keynote In Island Camps

By DANIEL DE LUCE

FAMAGUSTA, CYPRUS, — (AP) — Despair is cheap and unrationed in the Jewish camps of Cyprus.

Twelve thousand Jews are still behind barbed wire on this island, less than 200 miles from their goal, Israel.

Two thousand British troops are fed up with acting as jailors for civilians some of whom point to numbers tattooed on their arms by nazi police and cry, "Hitler-Bevin!"

Senior officials are dismayed at the sinking morale of the military garrison, the increasing desperation of the immigrants, and the high cost of $48,000 a day to guard and support the camps.

Yet the latest information is that the British government in London is determined to keep them penned up another six months, possibly more, if a Palestine settlement is not in sight.

This policy appears to be resented by every Briton who must carry it out.

SOP TO ARABS

"What can we do?" says a typical young infantry officer. "we obey orders. We can curse these orders to ourselves for what they are: A sop to the Arab states which fails to keep the Arabs as our friends; a continual source of anti-British hatred in Israel.

"We can say to ourselves that the Jews, all of them, should be cleared out of Cyprus. If U. N. is anxious to restrain military-age immigrants rom entering the Israeli army, let U. N. do the job.

"But orders, to a soldier, are orders. Now we're getting more tents and blankets together so the camps can go through another winter."

A battalion of the South Wales borderers guards one camp on the outskirts of Famagusta. Commandos guard another near Larnaca. There are 8,000 Jewish men of presumed military fitness. With them are 4,000 women and children, who have chosen not to go on to Israel alone.

The camps were established in August 1946, as a dumping ground for Jewish immigration that exceeded the quota set by the British man power in Palestine. Most present inmates have been here less than a year. They live in British army tents on British rations averaging slightly more than 2,000 calories daily, supplemented by food from American Jewish funds.

Husband's 'Sportive Mood' Winds Up In Divorce Plea

CLEVELAND — (AP) — The grounds were "extreme cruelty and gross neglect."

But the divorce petition filed in behalf of Mrs. Julia Stumph, 50, today described them at greater length, in this fashion:

"Mr. Stumph in a sportive mood turned the garden hose on Mrs. Stumph, drenching her completely and causing a severe cold and nervous collapse.

"On other occasions Mr. Stumph gallantly threw the garden's overripe tomatoes at Mrs. Stumph, all in what he considered great sport and fun.

"In a festive mood the husband on one occasion handed a rope to a mutual acquaintance, telling the other person to give the rope to his wife 'to hang herself with.'"

The husband, Fred, 52, a machinist, could not be reached for comment.

Dems Win Control of Ohio Senate In Close Lucas Race

Hold Edge Over GOP of One Vote

Ragan Victor In Official Count

TOLEDO —(AP)— Settlement of a tight race today gave Ohio Democrats control of the state senate and thereby dominance in the legislature.

The G. O. P.'s hope of having something to say about running the general assembly faded with decision of the Lucas county contest between Raymond E. Hildebrand and Democrat Robert C. Ragan in the latter's favor.

This made the Democratic margin of 17 members to 16 Republicans final, barring further upsets should recounts be demanded in other districts, as a result of reapportionment because of population changes, the next senate will have only 33 members, as compared with 36 for the present body.

The unofficial count after the election showed Ragan the winner by 32 votes An error turned up in Hildebrand's favor, making him the apparent winner, until the official count settled the question.

The 17-16 senater majority stands beside a 70-65 house margin, plus all state offices except treasurer. Don Ebright, the incumbent, kept that for the Republicans, while former Gov. Frank J. Lausche led the rest of the Democratic ticket in.

Delayed announcement of election results was attributed by a state official to antiquated voting methods.

Ohio's slow counting of votes should be speeded up by installing voting machines in all 88 counties, says Leland Dougan, chief assistant to Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel. Dougan has become an expert on elections in the secretary of state's office which operates Ohio's election system.

CONGRESS GROUP HOLDS VARIED VIEWS

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The delegation that will represent Ohio in next year's 81st congress displays all shadings of opinion on the day's major issues.

An Associated Press poll of 16 congressmen from Ohio showed that this is what they would do on four principal domestic and foreign issues:

They would give a unanimous vote to farm price support at present levels.

They would repeal the Taft-Hartley labor law.

They would deadlock on a proposition to give the President power to control prices and allocations.

They would continue foreign aid through ECA and would give direct aid to Greece and Turkey.

The compilation is based on answers considered definite enough to tabulate one way or the other.

The vote, with many answers too indefinite to list one way or the other and with some congressmen declining comment, was:

For farm price support, 9; against 0; no comment 7.

For repeal of Taft-Hartley law 8; against 3; no comment 4; questionable 1.

For price controls 4; against 4; no comment 6; questionable 2

For ECA and direct Greece-Turkey aid 9; against 1; No comment 2; questionable 4.

Seven of Ohio's 23 newly-elected congressmen could not be reached.

Roll call of all veterans who have died since the 1947 service was read by Commander Joseph W. Denig of the Legion post. The list included three from the Spanish-American war. 17 from World War I and 15 from World II.

The service Thursday will open with a moment of silence at 11 a. m.

At that hour a wreath will be placed on the Doughboy monument in Central park and Rev. John Gensel, Legion chaplain, will speak briefly of the meaning of Armistice Day. All retail stores in the city have been asked to close for 45 minutes so that employes may attend the Central park services.

At 7:30 p. m. Thursday hundreds of veterans are expected to march in a parade. They will form at the Legion home on Park avenue west, and parade down Park avenue to Central park and around the park to Main street. From there the parade will move north on Main to Fourth, west on Fourth to Mulberry and back to the Legion home.

Veterans will be paced at intervals by music from five bands, including the Legion, Mansfield and Madison high schools and Johnny Appleseed and John Simpson junior high schools.

Oily Water Fatal to Ducks

MONTREAL —(AP)— Thousands of dead ducks floated down the St. Lawrence river today.

About 20,000 birds died through starvation, exposure and pneumonia after they were rendered helpless by oil-polluted waters of Lake St. Peter, government game officials said.

The ducks—mostly blacks, bluebills and whistlers—landed on the lake on their way south. The oil, believed to have been released by a grounded tanker, soaked their wings and kept them in the water. Ninty-five per cent of the flock was lost, game officials said.

Denies She Shot Husband

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Mrs. Mary Pappas, 50, was bound over to the grand jury without bond today after pleading innocent to a charge of slaying her husband, John, 55, while he slept in a chair.

The woman had told Police Capt. George T Pearcey earlier she shot Pappas Saturday night because she was afraid he was going to have her placed in a mental institution

Mrs Pappas was taken into custody Sunday morning after hiding all night behind the home of her sister, Mrs. Harriet Kallas.

Meyers Plea Gets 'No'

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The U. S. Court of Appeals today upheld the conviction of former Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers for inducing a Senate witness to lie under oath. The court split 2 to 1 in its decision.

Justices Wilbur K. Miller and James M. Proctor found that there was "no prejudicial error" in Meyers' trial and directed the jury's verdict "will not be disturbed."

Justice E. Barrett Prettyman declared the case against Meyers had not been proved and the verdict should be reversed.

Meyers was sentenced on March 15 to 20 months to five years in prison for inducing his former friend and associate Bleriot Lamarre, to lie to the Senate war investigating committee. He began his prison term immediately after sentencing.

The charges against the general arose from the committee's investigations of Meyers' war time activities as deputy chief of Air Forces procurement. He was alleged to have netted more than $150,000 from the Aviation Electric corporation of Dayton, O., of which Lamarre was "dummy president."

Meyers also is under indictment for perjury and income tax evasion in several states.

Wrong Headline Brings Premium

HINTON, W. Va. —(UP)— The journalistic axiom that "Nothing is deader than yesterday's newspaper" was reversed here today.

MT. GILEAD — Mrs. Susan Catherine Westall Stoltz, 87, died at the Marengo home of her daughter, Mrs. H. E. Jacobs, on Friday after a month's serious illness. Mrs. Stoltz was a member of the W.C.T.U., Marengo Pythian Sisters and Marengo Methodist church.

Surviving, besides Mrs. Jacobs, are two other daughters, Mrs. Daisy Miller and Miss Florence Stoltz, both of Marengo. Rites will be held at 2 p. m. today in the Marengo Methodist church with Rev. S. M. Beatty, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Bloomfield cemetery in charge of the Jacobs funeral home.

★

JESS HUGHES

BUCYRUS — Jess Hughes, 59, drill press operator at the Crawford Steel Foundry here, died suddenly at 11 p. m., Saturday of a heart attack suffered in his home. He had been a Bucyrus resident for six years.

Surviving are his widow, Opal, three daughters, a son, two sisters and a brother, all but the widow residing in Scottsville, Ky. Services were held here this morning and the body will be sent to Kentucky this afternoon for services there and burial on Wednesday.

Rest Offered Smog Victims

DONORA, Pa.—(AP)—A week's rest in North Carolina was in store today for 21 persons who became ill in the smothering smog suspected of causing the deaths of 19 persons in this western Pennsylvania community.

Soon after the disaster two weeks ago, the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Wilmington, N.C., and the Chamber of Commerce of Wrightsville Beach, N. C., extended an invitation for up to 50 persons to spend a week in the South with all expenses paid.

The offer was accepted by 10 residents immediately and 11 other names were added to the list over the past week-end.

Play Group Opens Series

The Mansfield Little Theater will give the first of three performances of "Room Service" at 7:30 p. m., today in the John Simpson auditorium. Tonight's performance is especially for school children.

Adult performances will be presented Tuesday and Wednesday at 8 p. m.

Boy Scouts of Mansfield will be guests of the Little Theater tonight. W. G. Schultz, president of the Little Theater organization, reminded Scouts today that they must take their membership cards to the John Simpson auditorium if they want to be admitted as guests.

Tickets may be obtained at the box office in the Simpson lobby for any of the three performances. Schultz said.

New London Books T-B Mobile Unit

NEW LONDON—The T-B mobile unit, now touring northern Ohio in the interests of chest clinics, will be here Wednesday and Thursday.

From 8 a m to 12 noon Wednesday, the unit will be at the C. E. Ward company, located near Plant No 2, commonly known as the "Metal Plant." From 2 to 5 p. m Wednesday, 1 to 4 and 6 to 9 p. m. Thursday, the unit will be at the New London high school grounds.

Hope For 38 Waning

SEATTLE —(AP)— Hope ebbed today for 38 persons on three planes missing along the shores of the North Pacific.

More than 40 planes and several surface ships, taking part in what the Coast Guard called the most extensive search ever conducted in this area, failed to turn up any new leads yesterday.

Nineteen planes covered Vancouver Island, off the British Columbia coast, seeking a U. S. Navy patrol bomber which vanished with nine men aboard last Thursday.

Clouds kept air searchers from mountain peaks where it now is believed the plane crashed.

Bad weather also hindered the search for the other two missing planes: A Pacific Alaska air express airliner which disappeared Thursday in the Sitka-Ketchikan area with 17 aboard, and a Navy Privateer patrol bomber with 12 men aboard which failed to return to its Kodiak base after a flight over the Aleutian Islands Wednesday.

Riggs Sent to Pen On Check Charges

James A. Riggs, 33, of Olivesburg road, was sentenced to one to three years in the Ohio penitentiary today in Common Pleas court, on each of three indictments.

Riggs, charged with issuing 18 checks for $599 without sufficient funds, changed his plea to guilty. The sentences are to run concurrently.

Riggs was represented by Attorney William A. Calhoun, who told the court that Riggs had made restitution for 10 of the checks in the amount of $355. Most of the checks had been issued to buy materials in connection with Riggs's electrical business.

Prosecutor Theodore Lutz presented a report that Riggs had been in the reformatory from June, 1947, to May, 1939.

Cyrus J. Messimer jr., of 405 West Fifth street, was sentenced to one to seven years in the reformatory on charges of grand larceny. Messimer had changed his plea to guilty. He had been placed on probation Sept. 18, 1947, on charges of issuing a check with insufficient funds.

Kenneth Crooks, of 459 Lily street, was sentenced to one to three years in the penitentiary on a plea of guilty to issuing a $10 check to Miller's Grill on the Mansfield Savings Trust National bank last Sept. 27.

Willie Williams, alias Herman Williams, of 71 East Sixth street, was found innocent by the court of charges of carrying concealed weapons.

FAIL TO OFFER PROOF

Police said they found brass knuckles on Williams when they arrested him Aug. 9. However, testimony showed that police went to Williams' home to arrest him on charges of assault and battery, and that when he put on his clothes the brass knuckles were discovered. There was no proof that Williams had carried the brass knuckles while out on the street.

Four others who entered pleas of guilty were placed on probation.

Mrs. Henrietta Smith, of 65 East Sixth street, charged with keeping a house of prostitution, was placed on probation for five years.

James F. Gamble, 18, of Shelby, charged with second-degree manslaughter in the traffic death of Wilford Hipp, of Mansfield, last September, was put on probation for five years.

Huber Hayes, of Crestline, was placed on probation for three years, on a plea of guilty to operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent.

Henry Swope, 75 Louis avenue, charged with assault and battery, was put on probation for three years.

Bulletins

WASHINGTON— (AP) —The Supreme court today agreed to rule on the constitutionality of the Taft-Hartley law requirements that union officials must file non-communist affidavits if they wish to use machinery of the National Labor Relations Board.

★

WASHINGTON — (AP) — House Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) said today last Tuesday's Democratic victory probably will mean higher federal taxes. "Indications now are that there will be more instead of less taxes," he told a news conference. "If we are going to spend we can't reduce taxes."

SANTA ANA, Calif.—(AP)—Evacuation of all residents from Silverado Canyon, an area of some 500 large homes and estates, was ordered today as the Orange county brush fire spread wildly, fanned by 50-mile an hour winds.

Holiday's Observance Set In Area

Communities in the Mansfield area are planning Armistice day observance Thursday.

Bucyrus posts of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars are planning special events. The annual holiday breakfast in the Legion home has Lloyd Adams, past commander, in charge of arrangements. It is scheduled from 6 to 9:30 a. m.

Following the breakfast will be the parade of veterans to Legion Point where a wreath will be placed on the monument. Commander William Dustman reports the Bucyrus high school band will head the parade and a VFW color guard also will participate.

A program of short addresses is scheduled later at the Legion home.

At the VFW home the annual past commanders' banquet will be held on Thursday night. Several state VFW officers are expected to attend. A dance will follow the dinner.

In Mt. Gilead the T. P. Johnston post of the American Legion will have charge of ceremonies at the Victory Shaft. Rev. Russell Bohner, Trinity Methodist church pastor, will give the invocation and Commander Leslie Hildebrand will place the wreath on the monument. Services will conclude with the playing of taps.

Thursday night Mt. Gilead Legionnaires will hold their annual holiday banquet in the high school auditorium.

Fall Seriously Injures Boy, 9

Larry Heston, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Heston, Stocking avenue, is in "fair" condition at General hospital today after undergoing a delicate liver operation following an accident Sunday.

The child was playing in the barn at the home of a cousin near Steam Corners when he fell. He was taken to General hospital where it was found his liver had been split by the fall.

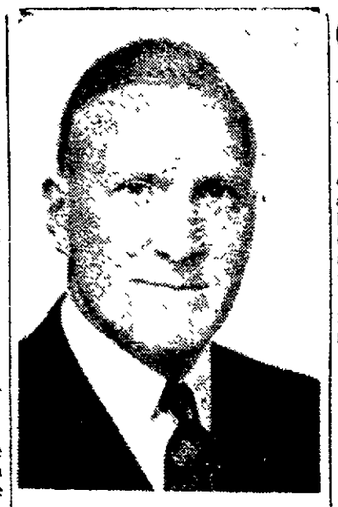
However, the Mansfield surgeon who performed the operation, said the boy has a good chance of recovering.

Hess Recovering

The condition of L. W. Hess, business manager of The News-Journal, was reported "good" today at General hospital where he is recovering from a heart attack suffered last week.

CRATING BURNS

Firemen from Central station answered a call to West Fifth street school at noon today when wooden crating which had covered materials for the new building, caught fire. There was no damage.



SPEAKS TONIGHT—Dr. R. R. Brown will preach the closing sermon of the Christian Missionary Alliance and Bible conference which has been held at the Grace Gospel church during the past week. Dr. Brown talks at 7:30 p. m. on the subject, "The Day of Power." Yesterday, members pledged $22,324 toward the expansion of the Alliance missionary program during the year. This was more than $2,000 more than was pledged last year.

Captures Hit-Skipper

Captured by a motorist whose car he had damaged in a hit-skip accident, Arnold McKinney, Shelby, R. D. 2, was fined $100 and costs today in municipal court on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

McKinney pleaded guilty. His right to drive was suspended for six months.

Sheriff's deputies said McKinney was captured about 1:20 a. m. Sunday by Richard Becker, 18, also of Shelby. McKinney's car struck the car operated by Becker two and a half miles from Shelby on State Route 96. Becker chased the McKinney car when it failed to stop following the accident.

Joseph Titschinger, Mansfield, R. D. 4, was fined $100 and costs and his license was suspended for six months for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol.

Malvern Gallagher, 77 East Third street, was fined $50 and costs and lost his right to drive for 90 days for unsafe operation.

Norman Humes, Cambridge Springs, Pa., forfeited a $25 bond for operating an automobile on more than one half of the highway, and Robert Zoll, Massa avenue, paid $15 and costs for speeding.

William T. Kramer, 261 West Fourth street, was assessed $10 and costs for speeding, and Ollie Tackett, Mansfield, R. D. 2, paid $5 and costs for failing to have an operator's license.

Sewer Bond Issue Lost By 52 Votes, Official Count Shows

The official count of the ballots cast on the question of the $500,000 sewer bond issue shows that the issue was defeated by 52 votes, Thomas R. Ziegler, election board clerk, said today.

To pass, the measure required 65 per cent of the total vote of 15,504, or 10,078 votes. The official recount showed that only 10,026 voted for the measure.

Ziegler said the official count showed 17 fewer persons voted for the measure and 19 more against it than the unofficial count showed.

Voters may get another chance to vote on the issue, however. Mayor Roy W. Vaughn, who sponsored the issue, urging council to put it on the ballot, said he will ask the legislators to put the issue on the ballot for a second time to give the people another chance to vote for it.

He has declared that money is urgently needed to relieve flooding conditions all over the city due to an inadequate storm sewer system.

Two Clubs to Meet Jointly Tuesday

The Optimist and Rotary clubs will hold a joint meeting tomorrow at 11:45 a. m. at the Mansfield-Leland hotel to hear Russell Weisman economic columnist for the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Weisman will give an interpretive talk on the results of the election and its effect on the future economic picture.

The Optimist club will not hold its usual Wednesday noon meeting, announced club President Bryce McMahan. A dinner-dance at Richland Recreation Center Wednesday at 6:30 p. m. will commemorate the 25th anniversary of the Mansfield Optimist club.

Slow Recovery Movement Seen In Market, Brokers Cautious

NEW YORK—(AP)—A slow recovery movement developed in the stock market today with prices going a few cents to around $1 a share higher.

The advance was a continuation of the upturn Saturday which ended a week in which losses were the greatest in more than eight years.

Most of the gains today were centered in the railroad, steel and automobile stocks. Some groups such as chemical, retail and tobacco companies lagged behind.

Brokers were cautious in their enthusiasm over the advancing prices. They noted the volume of trading was comparatively low today in sharp contrast to the surge of selling in the declining markets of last week.

Also, in many cases today stocks moving abruptly higher were cut back almost immediately in line with the more modest advances general throughout the list.

Can a man still become His Own Boss?
To this Vermont apple grower, the answer was a courageous "Yes"
AMERICAN FAMILY CLOSE-UP
As they go, so goes the nation!

J. Brower Hall searches for signs of damaging apple rust at his 175-acre orchard on Grand Isle, Vermont.

FROM the time they married in 1926, Brower and Helen Hall dreamed of having their own farm. Like many another American, Brower Hall wanted to be his own boss. But at 19, with $25 in the bank, and a job on a summer estate, it looked like a long row to hoe! For 20 years, the Halls regularly saved all they could, while he learned by managing orchards and dairy farms for other people.

Then last year Hall had the chance to buy the place he wanted . . . an orchard of 8,000 apple trees, a modern cold-storage plant. But was the goal of a lifetime really within reach?

With money from these systematic savings and some small investments, Brower and Helen Hall managed to buy their orchard. And he was on his own! If all went well, the Halls would make a go of it! But they hadn't figured on fire . . .

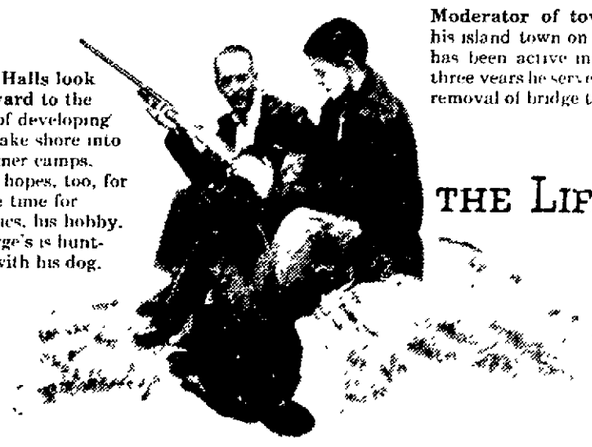
Last spring the packing plant burned! But with only two helpers, the Halls rebuilt in time for fall harvest. So now they can smile again! Independence is wonderful, they say.

Like Father, son George, 19, cherishes independence. To make sure of continuing his pre-med studies at Vermont U he worked a soft drink route last summer. His sister Jean, 18, helped the family pocketbook, too, as waitress at a resort hotel.

For Baby Jared, life looks grand! His father is determined to improve his own farm as best he can regardless of the difficulties we all face today. Earning about $5,000 a year now, Hall is steadily building up an estate through life insurance. He bought his first policy soon after marriage, now has $13,000 of protection, which he budgets at a fixed monthly cost of $35.21. "We're managing to feed and clothe the family and have our share of inexpensive fun on about $50 a week," Mr. Hall explains. "Working together we'll keep the independence we've all helped win!"

Moderator of town meetings for Grand Isle, his island town on Lake Champlain, Brower Hall has been active in civic affairs for 14 years. For three years he served in the Vermont Senate—won removal of bridge tolls to Grand Isle.

The Halls look forward to the fun of developing the lake shore into summer camps. Dad hopes, too, for more time for politics, his hobby. George's is hunting with his dog.



THE LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES AND THEIR AGENTS

BRING YOU THIS STORY BECAUSE... families like the Halls show us one way that happiness is earned! You, yourself, probably know a family, right in your own town, that is getting ahead in the same typically American way. Such families prove to all of us that we can solve our own problems by our own efforts.... Their example shows too why it is so important for us to hold to our rights to think for ourselves, to work at what we like, to live as we choose. For what this country amounts to depends upon/what happens to its homes!

PAGE FOUR — MANSFIELD, OHIO, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1948

There's been considerable talk about "take home pay"—but see what happens to it after it gets there.

As the only Republican survivor among candidates for state offices, it appears that "bright" should be given the accent in pronunciation of Ebright.

Many Votes Lost By Technicality

CONFUSION caused by omission of Henry Wallace's name from the third-party column on Ohio presidential ballots is credited largely with invalidating an estimated 100,000 to 150,000 votes for president in this state last Tuesday.

Obvious purpose of Secretary of State Hummel (fortunately defeated for re-election) in his battle to keep the third party off the ticket in Ohio was to confine balloting to the two major parties. All he succeeded in doing, however, was to prevent the Wallace name from appearing, thus making it necessary for Wallace supporters to mark an X in front of the name of each of the 25 would-be electors, listed at top of column as "Independent".

Result was that thousands of voters, including around 25,000 in Cuyahoga county, placed an X in the circle under the Democratic or Republican party emblem and also marked some X's in the column intended for Wallace voters—which invalidated all of these votes, thus accounting for the fact that, in some instances, the votes for president fell short of the number cast for governor.

This explains the unusually large number of invalidated presidential ballots in Richland county, with 1,164 reported to have been marked in ways that violated rules governing precinct officials and the board of elections.

A noteworthy sidelight on this situation is that in Lorain county, where voting machines were used for the first time, the total vote counted in the presidential race was approximately 2,000 more than in the governor contest.

Reports from the relatively few Ohio counties that have substituted voting machines for paper ballots indicate satisfactory operation, with emphasis placed on the speed with which results are available after the polls close and the ease with which voters adapt themselves to the change.

The subject of securing voting machines for use in Richland county elections has already been discussed at considerable length and more will probably be heard of it in the future as other Ohio counties move in that direction.

Zoning Ordinance Idea Bobs Up Again

REVIVAL of the subject of a city zoning ordinance, after a 20-year lapse following what appeared to be encouraging progress along that line, gives the impression of being another case of "locking the barn after the horse has been stolen."

It was just two decades ago that elaborate plans for a zoning ordinance were prepared, at considerable expense, and presented for consideration by city council and discussion by interested citizens.

In a general way, the plans appeared satisfactory, except as some phases of intended restrictions were opposed by interests which they would have affected in the spread of business into residential areas.

Eventually the whole thing was dropped and little has been heard of it since—until now the Mansfield Real Estate Board brings the matter to attention by asking council for action.

It cannot be doubted that passage of a sensible zoning ordinance twenty years ago, with impartial enforcement thereof, would have added to the desirability of a number of the city's residential sections, and looking to the larger Mansfield of the future, now may be the time to proceed to accomplishment of that deferred project.

One Vote Can Sometimes Decide

THE IMPORTANCE of a single vote is impressively demonstrated by outcome of the balloting on the question of a $17,000 bond issue proposal for a Washington township highway garage, on which voters in that township acted last Tuesday.

Without entering into the merits of the proposal, it is merely being pointed out that rejection rested on the decision of one voter, it being to that scant extent that the issue fell short of the 65 per cent requirement, with the substantial majority of 387 to 209 voting favorably.

The Mansfield $500,000 sewer bond proposal is another of the instances in which a very few votes proved to be the deciding factor.

Let's Not Forget That Bomb Explosion

REMINDER—Four months ago a bomb was exploded in the rear of a South Park street cafe. Two patrolmen and two city firemen were injured and considerable property damage was done. The bomb-planter was seen lighting the fuse, but escaped. He has not yet been apprehended and punished.

It may be taken for granted that police haven't given up hope of eventually unearthing a clue that will disclose identity of the culprit, as the injury of two of their fellow officers is sufficient to assure their continued vigilance.

Attention is again directed to the fact that the reward of $250 offered by The News-Journal for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the guilty party still stands.

A recent checkup of 100 parked cars in Dover (N. H.) disclosed 25 keys left in ignition switches—indicating that at least a substantial majority of motorists think.

They're telling about a Chicago man who beats the $1.25 haircut by not having any—but more are inclined to prefer the home variety.

Claude Callan explains: "We tried keeping a budget, but it didn't help. We always ran out of money before we ran out of budget."

Mystery involved in the theft of a camera in an eastern city has not been solved—police report: "No developments."

Washington Calling

Truman Can Start Over

By MARQUIS CHILDS

A HEALTHY political custom deeply rooted in tradition, requires officeholders named by appointment to submit their resignations after an election has been held. This applies even though the incumbent President is returned to office.

It should certainly apply from top to bottom in the Truman administration. The President has an unparalleled opportunity to bring in new men chosen solely for their capacity.

The votes of organized labor and organized farmers weighed more heavily than any other factor. President Truman now must carry out the pledges he has made on housing, price controls, social security, public health, and aid to education.

But this is not a personal debt of the kind incurred by most presidential candidates. There are no fat cats waiting on the doorstep of the White House to collect on the contributions they made to the party. The fat cats made all their contributions to the Republican party, from which they expected to receive handsome favors.

Ordinarily these fat cats are paid off with ambassadorships and even with cabinet posts. Too often in the past they have received their reward regardless of fitness.

With the resignation of every cabinet member, every ambassador and a host of other resignations on his desk, the President has a chance to begin anew. It is almost as though a new party were coming into power. Appointments can be made not for money or for prestige and face, but for ability.

Secretary of State Marshall, Secretary of Defense Forrestal and Undersecretary of State Lovett have long indicated that they wished to return to private life. They had made heavy sacrifices under the continuing burden of responsibility in a crisis. As soon as a transition can be effected without damage to business in hand, their wishes should be respected.

The President has kept on other men in important posts out of a mistaken sense of loyalty on both sides. They have considered that they were being loyal to a friend in a bad spot and they did not want to be accused of deserting the ship in distress.

The President's extraordinary victory has relieved them of any further responsibility. They can accept the lucrative private jobs that, according to their own wistful account, they have been refusing. Nor is the President under any further obligation to keep on old friends for loyalty's sake and past association.

* * *

It's Different Now.

THE NATION today has a new President who owes nothing to his cronies. He is no longer the accidental heir of a political philosophy and a political organization.

During his years in the White House, the President's most frequent lament was that he could not get good men to accept office at government salaries. The reasons were obvious.

No one believed that the Truman administration was anything more than an interim, caretaker government. And government salaries are a serious handicap which Democratic Congress can remove by approving moderate salary increases.

The same reasons do not apply today. The President has four years before him with a clear mandate and a Senate and House owing their majorities in no small part to him. Able man will serve if the President approaches them in the right way.

It is possible, if President Truman only wills it, to bring an entirely new atmosphere to this capital. It would not be the naive, "roll up our sleeves and make over America" atmosphere of Rexford Tugwell and the early New Deal. Too many sobering realities have intervened to induce such wishful illusions.

But a new Truman administration could introduce the kind of expertness that Governor Dewey talked so much about. Efficiency alone is not enough, but neither are warmhearted good intentions.

Democracy Is Workable

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON—A point which seems to have been overlooked in the recent barrage of Monday-morning quarterbacking about the election is that it should serve as undeniable proof to the world that the American system, with all its faults, still is just about the most workable democracy in existence.

That is, if you believe that the prime purpose of democracy is to safeguard the rights and dignity of the individual.

Chief among those rights is the one which guarantees participation in self-government, without danger of one's own person in event of political defeat.

A great many eulogies have been written picturing President Truman as the epitome of the courageous little guy who would never admit he was licked. And certainly, if ever a presidential candidate deserved such eulogies, Harry Truman is that man!

However, partially because they largely served as pegs for apologies and lengthy explanations, such eulogies seemed to overlook a far more pertinent point:

When it came to showing steadfast courage in the face of almost certain defeat, Harry Truman did not stand alone. Had that been true, he would not be succeeding himself in the White House.

Not having had a concern myself with crow-eating, this correspondent has been compiling a record of post-election letters, telegrams and phone calls—as well as local reactions—from scores of delightedly surprised Democrats across the country.

"Delighted and surprised" is the proper term for most of the reaction.

Faith In Democracy.

GENERALLY, the comment was typified by the open admission of an Independence, Iowa, (not Missouri) farmer friend of mine who called up to tell me he was coming to Washington for inauguration week. Said he: "I worked for him hard as I could right down to the end—but, Ken, I never thought he'd make it!"

A relative in Illinois said, also by phone, "we made a fight out of it all the way, but honestly, we never expected to win!"

So it went. Political observers (once they regain their somewhat shattered aplomb) will argue for years as to whether Truman actually thought all along that he would win or whether he was merely observing the traditional confident attitude of the campaigner. Me, I don't know, but I don't think it matters.

In any case tradition demanded that he follow that role. And if he really believed it, then he had less need for last-ditch courage than the least among those millions who elected him!

Comes now the point: Where did those millions of Americans, convinced they were waging a losing battle, get such courage? And is it really courage, as the term usually implies?

It is not, rather, a confidence in this democratic system of ours which, for all the rotten politics it sometimes permits, still adheres adequately to the principles inscribed by Thomas ("Certain Unalienable Rights") Jefferson and implemented by Abraham ("With Malice Toward None") Lincoln?

I think it is.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Nation Expects Big Things of Truman

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — My wife has been making things quite difficult for me ever since election day.

She talks about "that cute little Harry" and won't let me forget that I predicted he would not be re-elected.

"Such a nice little man," she says, "and he got no help from anyone. The liberals were against him, the conservatives were against him. Everyone was against him—but the people."

I have reminded her that at least I predicted a Democratic Senate and that I reaped a harvest of squawks and jeers even for doing that. But she isn't satisfied.

"No, you can't alibi," she says. "I know you too well. That poor little man fighting all alone, and you discouraged him by predicting he would lose. Such a nice man, I just love him."

"Listen," say I gruffly. "Mrs. Truman isn't going to like hearing you say that about her husband. And I don't either. Love and politics don't mix."

"This wasn't politics," replies Mrs. P. "This was a lot bigger. This was bigger than any victory Roosevelt ever won, because Roosevelt never had Wallace and the Dixiecrats running against him. I want you to tell everyone what a really great victory this was."

"They don't need me to tell 'em," I argue back. "They know it. Besides I tried to call the shots all during the campaign. I said a lot of nice things about the President. I was about the only one who defended his idea of sending Chief Justice Vinson to Moscow. I compared his courageous war record with Dewey's farm draft deferment. I told about his devout desire for peace and his reluctance to drop the atomic bomb. I defended him on a whole raft of things. But . . ."

"Yes, I know your abili," says the wife, not even willing to let me finish what I was going to say. "The Republican editors cut all the nice things you said out of the column."

"Incidentally, you're always going in for democracy contests and slogans," continues Mrs. P., who is now really steamed up. "I'll give you a slogan free. You won't have to pay me $20,000 in prizes. Here it is: 'Don't Hamper Harry, Help Him!' "

* * *

Message to Truman.

WELL, that ended that. However, Mrs. P., who has good sense about most things (except pigs), hit the nail right on the head.

It was a great victory, in a sense greater than Roosevelt's victories because Truman fought it singlehanded, with a divided party, and with an extra quota of nonpaying deadheads dragging their feet on his bandwagon.

So, to the President of the United States I would like to say:

"Although I was wrong in predicting your defeat, I am glad I was wrong. And after that grand fight you put up, and regardless of any names you may have called me, I don't know anyone I would rather eat humble pie for than a good sport and a great battler like you."

"You, Mr. President, now have your own mandate from the people. You won it entirely on your own. You need feel no inferiority complex that you were a political accident who came into office through another man's choice.

"Nor need you feel any obligation to some of the cabinet Judases who buttered you up to your face, while making deals with the enemy behind your back; nor to others in your official family who don't pull their full weight on the oar. The people will applaud if you get rid of them; if you banish entirely all government-by-cronies.

"The nation is expecting big things of you, Mr. President — big things in extremely trying times.

"For my part I would much rather write the good than the bad. And though I know you believe in fair criticism, I for one would like to urge that we work, strive, give as a united nation and 'help Harry, not hamper him' to make democracy live."

* * *

Election-Went-Round.

FLUSHED friends of Harry Truman were talking with him at Independence, Mo., regarding the chief factor behind his victory. He said it was hard work. "I grew up on a farm where you have to work for what you get," remarked the President . . . While Truman's campaigning undoubtedly won him votes, Wallace's didn't. Here are the telltale figures: of Wallace's 986,771 votes, 844,189 came from eight states. The rest of the country where he gathered crowds just didn't vote for him. In other words, 40 states were not affected by his trips or his radio broadcasts . . . The only three cabinet members who really worked for the re-election of their chief were Attorney General Tom Clark, Secretary of Agriculture Charlie Brannan and Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin. They rolled up their sleeves . . . New Speaker Sam Rayburn has grave doubts as to whether the new Congress will tolerate Congressman J. "Kickback" Thomas, regardless of whether he is convicted for taking salary kickbacks from clerks and stenographers . . . Shrewdest move Truman made in the entire campaign was reconvening the 80th Congress right after the Philadelphia convention in July. When the Republicans adjourned without acting on inflation, price control, housing or teachers' pay, etc, it clinched more votes than any other campaign issues.

The Nation Today

Danger of Not Voting

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — There's a lesson in last Tuesday's election if you're one of the 48,000,000 people of voting age who didn't vote.

It's simply this:

By not voting you can let a tiny minority of voters, organized into a third party, actually pick your government for you.

Roughly, about 46,000,000 people voted last Tuesday. There are 94,000,000 of voting age. So 48,000,000 didn't vote.

President Truman won around 23,080,000 votes, or almost 2,000,000 more than the 21,095,000 Governor Dewey got.

But Henry Wallace and his Progressive party were in the race, too. He got only about 1,095,000. But —

If he had received only about 100,000 more votes in a few places he would have offset Mr. Truman's 2,000,000 lead over Dewey and thrown the election to the Republicans.

No one knows, of course, what would have been the vote of those 48,000,000 people who didn't vote.

But, for the sake of illustration here, although it's an exaggerated example, let's say most of them would have voted for Mr. Truman.

Then the desires of those 48,000,000 who didn't vote for him, plus the desires of the 23,080,000 who did, could have been frustrated by a mere additional 120,000 votes picked up by Wallace.

The victory would have gone to the Republicans — who got only 21,095,000 votes — and the wishes of 71,080,000 would have meant nothing.

That didn't happen this time. It may next time, or some other time in the future if there is a small and active third party in the field.

And that would mean government run by a minority in the realest sense of the word, whether that minority was Democratic, Republican or otherwise.

* * *

Minority Can Control.

MAYBE this will show how it could have happened this time:

In New York state on Tuesday the race was close. Although President Truman got 2,782,000 votes there, he lost the state to Dewey by about 55,000.

But in New York Wallace got 508,000 votes. If he hadn't been running, most of those votes probably would have gone to Mr. Truman.

If Mr. Truman had been able to get only 56,000 of those votes which went to Wallace he would have won New York state from Dewey.

That's a good example of how the small third party actually figured in the election in a large way.

But now take three other important states — California, Illinois and Ohio — which Mr. Truman carried, but not by a huge figure.

In Ohio President Truman, with 1,461,000 votes, beat Dewey only by an 18,000-vote margin.

Wallace got only 35,000 votes there. If he had been able to snag just 19,000 more from the Truman total, Dewey would have won Ohio.

Take California. There Mr. Truman, with 1,875,000 votes, won over Dewey by only 32,000 votes.

But Wallace got 178,000 there. If he could have picked up another 33,000 from the Truman total, Dewey would have taken California.

Take Illinois. Mr. Truman with 1,985,000 votes, beat Dewey by only 50,000.

Wallace wasn't on the ballot in Illinois. If he had been and been able to grab just 51,000 votes from Mr. Truman, Dewey would have taken Illinois.

If Mr. Truman had lost California, Illinois and Ohio, he would have lost the election. Why?

Because altogether Mr. Truman got 304 electoral votes and Dewey 189. But those three states have a combined electoral vote of 78. Since a presidential winner needs at least 266 electoral votes, then —

Those 78 electoral votes taken from Mr. Truman's 304 would have left him with only 226.

And if those 78 votes were added to Dewey's final total of 189, he would have wound up with 267 electoral votes, or just one more than enough to win.

How It Started

"Still Wet Behind Ears."

This familiar phrase, "still wet behind the ears," about which one of our readers inquires, is authentic American slang. Slang it is, however, only in the metaphorical sense, as one uses it to indicate youth and innocence, with particular reference to a lack of sophistication that leaves the subject under discussion an easy victim not only to error but to impositions on the part of others.

The saying is one of the land, being the farmer's allusion to newly born livestock. Those who ever have assisted or been present at the entrance into the world of a colt or calf may not be surprised to learn that the little depression behind the animal's ear is supposed to be the last spot to become dry after birth. Hence the ears" or "not even dry behind the metaphor "still wet behind the ears."

Learn About Sassafras

By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE damp soil is filled with spicy odors, up on our slope. There small clumps of sassafras trees flaunt a border of yellow and Chinese red above the billow of scrub oak, brambles and braided greenbrier. At every terminal bud the fresh green bark emits the odors of aromatic spice. They are tasty to chew, with a gluey quality.

I like to get upon my knees among the leaves--some are mitten-the leaves — some are mitten-shaped, some a single lance, some three-pronged--and brush the layers of mould away to find the roots. Most of these are yellowish white on the north slope, but farther on, on the steeper ridges the red-rooted sassafras grows—the kind that makes springtime brew for "that tired feeling." The odor of earth and spice clings pleasantly to my hands—and that I like.

Sassafras trees do not grow very large, hereabouts. Once I came across a big one that measured three feet in diameter about three feet from the ground. But such are rare. On such trees, the thick red-brown bark looks as if it were washed with gray. There are many big sassafras trees in the Smoky Mountains of Carolina and Tennessee, and the lumber is tinged with red, with seven or eight rings of light yellow sapwood. Little is sold, but it makes good posts, door sills, or light boats, since it is durable in contact with the soil.

Perhaps few people know that bark of the roots distills to make perfume for soaps and flavor for medicines. An orange dye can be made from the bark. Early settlers dyed homespuns with it.

Captain John Smith filled the hold of his boat with such bark and roots on the return trip to England, and sassafras became one of the valuable colonial exports, for many years. The slopes of southern Connecticut to the water's edge of Long Island Sound furnished many shiploads of sassafras in the early days.

Among the southern Indians, beds were made from the aromatic wood and still in the South, bed slats are sometimes laid upon freshly chipped sassafras sawdust to drive bedbugs away. The Indians extracted the oil from the bark of roots, used it for burns and for colds, and as flavor for gumbo soup.

Insects seldom bother sassafras shrubs, but fires injure the base of the older trees, and often kill the young ones. The twisted limbs are often set on almost at right angles to the trunk, making unsymmetrical shapes. When burned, the wood snaps and crackles, giving off aromatic odor. The trees grow slowly after they are two feet in diameter, but may live for 700 to 1,000 years.

A Chinese variety is much like that of our own eastern United States.

New Army's Tender to Its Recruits, War Writer Discovers

Sergeant Even Picks Flowers!

It Was Never Like This In Old Days

(Editor's Note: The first draftees are entering the peacetime army, which has promised to handle them with kid gloves and try to establish a personal contact with each man as a dignified individual. In the following dispatch, a former U. P. war correspondent tells what the post-war draftee can expect at a large training camp.)

By H. D. QUIGG

FORT DIX, N. J.—(U.P.)—This is the new army, Mr. Jones.

There's a 15-year veteran sergeant here who goes gathering flowers by day—on his own time—just to put on your writing table. That's because he likes you so much. And also because he's been ordered to follow the "new attitude" the army is adopting toward you, the postwar draftee and enlistee.

Here is this one-tough army training camp you get doughnuts and coffee at the front entrance, uniforms are tailor-fitted, noncoms soft-bitten, profanity unheard, and reveille toots sweet in the Jersey dawning.

The new idea is to treat the draftees as persons with "individual dignity" and as "sensitive human beings"—to try to form a personal relationship with recruits. The first batch of postwar inductees now is being processed here. But as of now, the 17 and 18-year old enlistees overwhelmingly outnumbered the 25-year-old drafted recruits.

Sgt. Peter A. Walsh stood in the receiving room as a new group of recruits arrived. He herded them to their places and then beamed:

"Welcome to the army and to Fort Dix on behalf of Maj. Gen. A. A. White."

He gave them forms to fill out and then they trooped in for a snack of coffee and doughnuts

Nearby, Capt. Hubert L. Andrews, in charge of the receiving point, hammered away at some private carpenter work. A recruit in green fatigues approached and handed him a two-by four. The captain arose.

"O.K., thank you," he said.

The recruit bowed with "individual dignity" and retired.

"The new draftees seem a little shyer than the enlistees," Andrews said. "Maybe a little quieter. Otherwise, you can't tell them apart. They're all treated the same here."

Over at the reading and writing room, where recruits are "invited" to write home pretty often, Sgt. Foster Vary, a veteran of 15 years in the army and the kind of a fatherly guy the army hopes all non-coms will turn out to be under the new attitude, explained his duties.

"A lot of these boys never had to write letters before," he said. "I just note down a little form of what to tell their folks I tell them to emphasize that mother's cooking is a lot better than the army's. Sometimes I drop the parents a line myself, if I get to know the boy. My big problem is romance—the boys come to me for advice."

At this point a sergeant was asked if it was true the new-army non-coms say "please" and "thank you."

"It's almost that bad," he said. "It's kinda hard to get used to."

A group of recruits was asked what they thought of their sergeants and corporals—a dynamite-loaded question for an old-army recruit.

"They're the swellest guys we've met yet," a Brooklyn boy said "They don't try to show their rank and they're calm and patient. I don't believe I could be one because I don't have enough patience."

Pullet Poll Was Right, But Pollster Wouldn't Believe It

KANSAS CITY, Mo. —(U.P.)— Not all the presidential polls went dead-wrong for Dewey.

But the sponsor of the only one that was right — a midwest sampling from the heart of America — tossed his aside because he didn't believe his own reports.

This is the sad story of Tom Staley and his pullet poll.

It had the political dope straight from the feed-box as early as the first week in September.

Begun early in July as an advertising campaign for Staley's Milling company and its chicken feed, the sampling scheme was handed a little differently than the more famous national ear-to-the-grounders.

Determined by preferential purchases of sacks of chicken feed on the part of farmers scattered throughout the mid-continent bread-basket country, the Staley pullet poll showed the presidency was in the bag for Mr. Truman.

The poll worked like this . . .

The same feed was sacked in two bags, one labelled for Dewey and the Republicans, the other for Truman and the Democrats. Each time a farmer purchased a bag of feed, he was asked which presidential candidate he wished to back. Tab was kept on sales of each type sack.

From the very start, President Truman sprang into the lead. He never lost it in the pullet poll.

But as he held the edge from week to week, Tom Staley read and listened to other advices. The big time pollsters—and the half a hundred Washington political writers who voted unanimously—said Dewey was "in."

Staley compared Pearson, Roper, Dr. Gallup with his figures —Truman 54 per cent, Dewey 46.

In early September, Staley decided his poll wasn't an accurate reflection of public opinion. He chopped off the pullet poll—the one that really was on the target of the true feeling of the American voters.

Emergency Chute Saves Clevelander

CLEVELAND —(AP)— A parachute jump by David C. Roads of Cleveland almost ended in disaster. His ripcord caught on the tail of the plane, piloted by one-time Thompson trophy winner Cook Cleland, during a demonstration yesterday at Willoughby.

Just before the plane nosed earthward the cord parted and Roads let go his emergency chute. He broke his leg landing.

Asks Labor Ambassadors

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Eric Johnston suggested today that it might be a good idea to send top labor leaders like Philip Murray and David Dubinsky abroad as this nation's ambassadors.

Johnston, head of the Motion Picture Association of America, thinks the old-fashioned diplomat picked from business or professional life is as dead as the dodo. He should be replaced by those who are closer to the people, Johnston writes in his new book, "We're All In It," published today by Dutton.

Johnston maintains that United States foreign policy demands that we take world leadership.

"We are the powerhouse which stands in the way of the sole remaining aggressive force loose on the globe — Communist Russia — the only force likely to start another war," he wrote. "Around our huge powerhouse of the west, the free world must rally — or go down."

Johnston recently negotiated an agreement with Russia whereby the Soviet will take a certain number of American films each year for showing in Russia.

CRASH INJURY FATAL

NEWARK—(AP)—Arlie L. Heldreth, 59, a coal miner of Shinnston, W. Va., was killed when his automobile overturned eight miles north of here yesterday. His wife, Vilery, 56, a son, Lee, 36, and Miss Gladys Ayers, 35, of Shinnston were injured seriously.

Record 1,800,000 Bushel Corn Crop Seen In Richland County

A record corn crop of 1,800,000 bushels for Richland county is expected in this year's harvest. Estimated by Agricultural Adjustment Administration chairman Guy Taylor as running about 50 per cent over last year's crop and 25 per cent above normal years, this year's harvest may find a small export market and dwindling livestock needs.

"Dollar corn" is a possibility, warns the Richland County AAA chairman and farmers should take advantage of the corn price support program. The loan rate in Richland county will be $1.50 per bushel, representing 90 per cent of parity as of Oct. 1.

Only corn stored on farms will be eligible and it may be either ear or shelled corn. Farmers may apply for loans anytime after harvest through June 30, 1949. Loans will mature September 1, 1949.

Further information can be had at the Richland county Triple-A office, 55 North Diamond street.

MANSFIELD SHRINE CLUB HAS PRESIDENT'S BALL

Dinner Dance Held at Richland Recreation Saturday Evening for 125 Couples.

AS HAS BEEN the custom for many years the president of the Mansfield Shrine club gives a party for the wives of the members each year before retiring from office. In keeping with his usual generosity, Franklin Bissman, retiring president of the local group, entertained Saturday evening at the Richland Recreation with a semi-formal dinner dance, attended by 125 couples.

MRS. W. L. HAMILTON

Miss Harriette Anne Stevens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Stevens, 345 West Third street, and Willard L. Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer L. Hamilton, Woodfield, Ohio, were married October 30 at the First Presbyterian church. The Rev. David N. Roller officiated for the double ring ceremony. The bride's only attendant was her sister, Mrs. K. D. Jones of Cleveland. John G. Stevens, brother of the bride, served as best man. The couple will reside at 760 Forest drive, Coolridge Heights.

Music for dancing was furnished by the Al Koran Little Symphony orchestra from Cleveland. The Cleveland Potentate and 25 others from the Al Koran club were in attendance.

At each dinner place were favors for the ladies. These were colorful billfolds on which were the Shrine emblem.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schwein presided as chairmen for the party.

Mrs. C. L. Lisle Conducts Meeting

Sixty-five members of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist church met recently in the church dining room for a 12:30 luncheon.

Circle Five served lunch with Mrs. John Cookman as the chairman.

Mrs. E. S. Lincoln was in charge of the program on Korea. Mrs. Frank Rudd, Mrs. Anna Rice, Mrs. Blaine Johnson, Mrs. G. W. De Yarman, Mrs. J. O. Rice, Mrs. R. L. Fox and Mrs. Charles Boals all gave short talks on Korea.

Mrs. Floyd Risler conducted the devotions.

Mrs. C. L. Lisle was in charge of the business meeting.

The next regular session will be Dec. 2 at 7:30 p. m. with Circle Six serving the lunch and Circle Three in charge of the program.

Shower Given Saturday For Miss Boehmler

The first in a series of showers for Miss Evelyn Boehmler was held Saturday night by Misses Rhea Ohl and Ruth Kiamy. During the evening the twelve guests played games and presented Miss Boehmler with the prizes chosen from a pot-of-gold at the end of the rainbow, which served as the color scheme for the evening.

By following clues from room to room, the honoree collected her gifts. At midnight a candlelight supper was served in the dining room. The table was decorated with a centerpiece of fall flowers.

Miss Boehmler, the bride-elect of Richard E. Fisher, will be wed December 4, at the St. John's Evangelical and Reform church.

Bake Sale Plans Made

Unit One of Nu Phi Mu sorority met recently at the home of Mrs. Harold Huffman, 343½ Sturges avenue.

Miss Murphy To Be Wed On Dec. 18

Mr. and Mrs. C. La Vergne Murphy, 550 South Main street, are announcing the approaching marriage of their daughter, Katherine Ann, to Forrest Clifton Eley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest W. Eley, Newark, Ohio.

The wedding will take place Dec. 18 at St. Luke's Lutheran church. The 2:30 p. m. ceremony will be performed by Dr. Herbert S. Garnes and will be an open service.

As her attendants Miss Murphy has chosen Mrs. Robert Browning, sister of the groom, as matron of honor, and Miss Dona Reese and Miss Dorothy Estep as bridesmaids.

Miss Murphy is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school, and is now employed in the production office at Ideal Electric.

Mr. Eley is a senior student at Kenyon college where he is affiliated with Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Friends Fete Bride-Elect

Thirty-five friends feted Miss Kathryn Bernice Knackstedt at a miscellaneous shower recently. Mrs. George Knackstedt, 144 willow street, and Mrs. Wilbur Knackstedt were the associate hostesses.

Games were the diversion of the evening with each winner presenting her prize to the honoree. A bride's book was made by the guests.

The gifts were presented to Miss Knackstedt in a large box covered with a pink and white trimmed umbrella. A doll dressed as a bride was in the box.

Lunch was served at a late hour from a table decorated in pink and white. A miniature bride and bridegroom centered with table. Fall flowers were placed around the centerpiece.

Miss Knackstedt is the bride-elect of Ted H. Coleman. The couple will exchange nuptial vows at the Grace Episcopal church at 7:30 p. m., Nov. 20. The Rev. Samuel J. Peard will officiate.

Dining Rooms Take Spotlight As Thanksgiving Approaches

By MARIAN WEST

WITH Thanksgiving just around the corner, it's time you gave your dining room a little attention. The old suite has probably worn out its welcome, so the immediate problem is how to redecorate.

"Of course a dining room is worthless without a turkey on the table," a Mansfield furniture dealer said. But you'll have to decide what style furniture you want before you place the bird on the board.

In this era of cramped living quarters, the Californian modern dinette offers the solution. It possesses simple yet graceful lines, and occupies a minimum of space.

One set on display in a local furniture store has modern side chairs with chartreuse seats, a hutch cupboard and credenza buffet. It is compact enough for four, but the extension table will seat 12 comfortably. The hand rubbed birch finish assures your dinner guests of a cheerful welcome.

"Eighteenth century or Duncan Phyfe designs are always good, emphasized the dealer, but large sets are almost obsolete, so far as sales are concerned. In fact, dining room suites in general, today, are almost negligible in comparative saleability, because houses are not built to accommodate them," he added.

The average Mansfield furniture store stocks 60 living room suites, 30 bedroom suites and only five or six dining-room suites, according to the salesman. This in itself is an indication of the low demand.

But if you do even a minimum of entertaining, an attractive dining room is a necessity. Stores in large cities often have model home displays, which offer an excellent opportunity to absorb new trends in interior decoration.

In Chicago, a recent exhibit featured a small and informal dining room which has its own fireplace and is completely antique in a modern setting. The oval breakfast table, chair, chest and a small table are Sheraton, and two Windsor chairs are made of yew-wood.

Dining chairs have ruffled seat covers of a paisley print in old red, chartreuse and white, the chartreuse picked up by a modern textured wool rug. Above the door are swags of white voile, heavily fringed. Walls of the room are modernly treated with a white corrugated plastic material, except for the wall above the fireplace, which attains drama through a mustard-colored covering.

T. H. Robsjohn-Giblings, author of "Goodbye Mr. Chippendale," decorates a model home and proves that modern can be dignified.

In the dining room he leaves the floor uncovered to reveal the beauty of the wood flooring of 24-inch walnut plywood squares. The furniture of dark walnut illustrates the designer's appreciation of wood finishes for, with the exception of the high-backed armless chairs, whose backs and seats are completely covered with leaf-green leather, there is much evidence of time spent on surfaces.

The wall treatment in this room is worthy of comment, too. The fireplace wall is of white-washed bricks, but the remaining walls are painted mist gray. Recessed in the rear wall are eight, two-panel screens covered with Hawaiian grass cloth in shades of straw and snuff brown.

Corner cabinets often supplement china cabinets, and chests and servers may be used in place of large buffets. The drop leaf extension table is ideal in close quarters.

The large variety of buffet styles make them popular in almost any setting. Black, mahogany, black lacquer with hand paintings or pickle-pine are only a few of those available here in Mansfield.

So, it's up to you now—are you or are you not going to do something with your dining room?

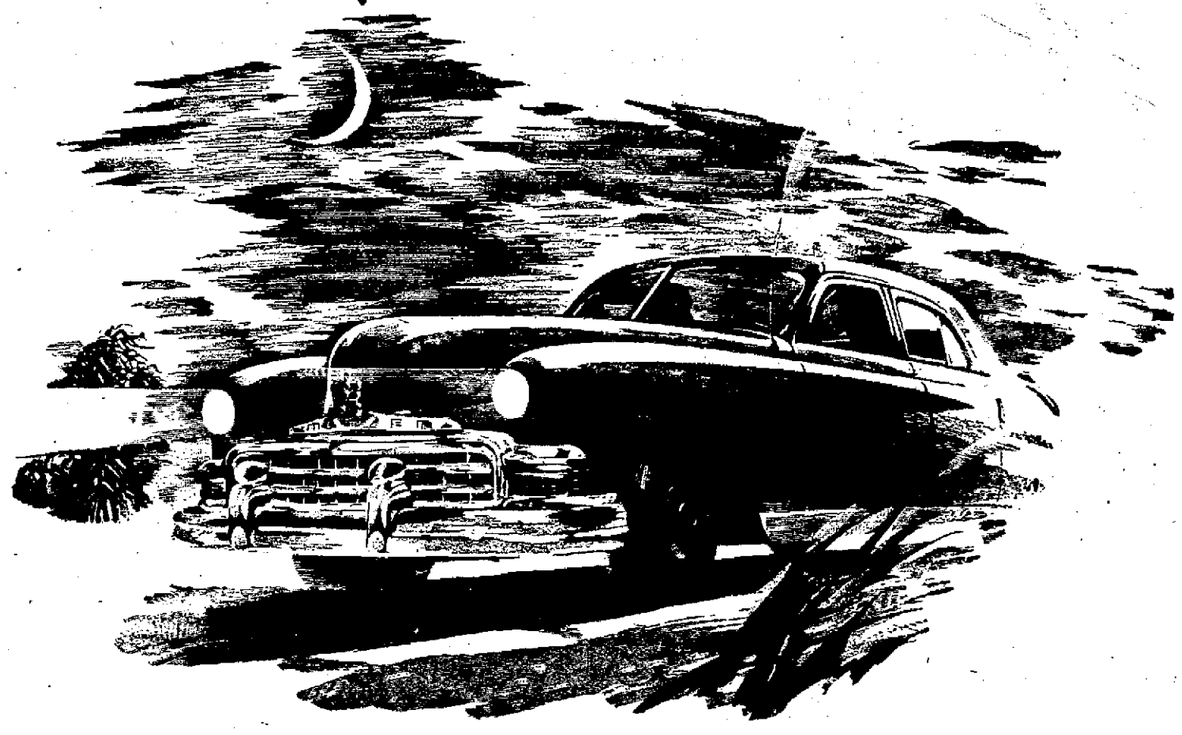
Low and Lovely— packed with Power!



...The new FRAZER for 1949!

The Beauty and Distinction of Custom Car Styling... The FRAZER Manhattan... The Pride of Willow Run.

Low-slung, sleek . . . and under its graceful bonnet one of the highest compression engines in any car.

It purrs quietly . . . but put your foot down on the accelerator and zoom up the passing lane as your powerful new Frazer engine with its dual manifold goes into action and your speedometer needle snaps to attentio

On the highway, at speeds over thirty, the overdrive saves gasoline. Your big, extra-roomy Frazer will match nickels with any of the cars it leaves behind—large or small. Its responsiveness, its pace-setting power tell you why test drivers call the New FRAZER the most spectacular performer on the road!

The thrill of its performance is heightened by the luxury in which you ride. You may style your New FRAZER to your own taste by choosing from more different combinations of colors and exclusive fabrics than are offered in any other new car.

Make your selection today.

Voice of Broadway

GOSSIP IN GOTHAM

Howard Hughes took advantage of the election night excitement to fly into New York for a four-hour rendezvous at the Viennese Lantern in the East Seventies. The lucky lass was Christofa Myling, a transplanted Hollywood starlet . . . Hard hit by the Truman victory was the booking agency that had Margaret Truman all set for a tour following her father's exit from the White House . . . Best ringside seat in Hollywood is on the set of "Samson and Delilah," where Cecil B. DeMille and Hedy Lamarr staged a championship battle every day . . . Playboy John Alden Talbot who recently hired a press agent to get him "dignified" publicity, won't snare many sedate paragraphs by necking in swing joints with the flashy Peggy Maley, which is what he was doing in the Three Deuces Tuesday night —wearing gold-rimmed glasses, too!

* * *

Gene Krupa's leg is giving him trouble . . . Since a recent magazine layout on a model agency, the hatbox honeys pictured have received 158 proposals, 52 of which came from foreign countries . . . Geraldine Fitzgerald is on the verge of signing for a new play to be produced in December . . . Joan Fontaine should get the nomination for being the season's most versatile actress. She's currently appearing in one cinema palace in the gorily tagged opus "Kiss the Blood Off My Hands," and a few blocks away she's the star of a piece airily titled "You Gotta Stay Happy!" . . . Philadelphia is buzzing with the story that the jewel thief who stole Gertrude Niesen's baubles insisted on talking to Gertrude, whereupon he offered to tell her where he hid the gems if she would intercede for him with the district attorney. Gertrude isn't telling what she did, but apparently they got together on a deal.

* * *

What's happening to orchestras on the road is worse than what happened to vaudeville. Even the top orchestra draw in the country, so-called, drew less people on his last few dates than a Communist rally in Scarsdale . . . The Sid Gordons he's the Giants baseball star) are knitting tiny garments . . . The youthful celebrity hounds have a new gag. They step up to a star and say "autograph?" When the star makes a gesture of smiling assent, the youngster hurriedly scrawls his own name on a piece of paper, hands it to the celeb and dashes off amid the giggles and guffaws of his companions . . . Greek dancer Bella Smaro, known as "the Mati Hari of World War II," will seek a divorce from her husband, Lieut. Peter Trimpton.

* * *

Tops In Town: The Four Knights' disc of the lilting ballad, "Walkin' With My Shadow" . . . Pupi Campo's rumba rhythms at the Embassy . . . The amusing team of Lucille and Eddie Roberts at the Chat Noir . . . Woody Herman's b-bop at the Royal Roost . . . The delightful movie "Apartment For Peggy" . . . Connie Sawyer's clowning at the Ruban Bleu.

* * *

Ted Peckham, of escort service fame, and Elizaneth Elser, whose dad is one of the Horse Show mapordomos, are inseparable . . . Greta Garbo was all set to play the starring role in the film version of "The Eagle Has Two Heads" for Alexander Korda, and Cecil Beaton was slated to design the sets and costumes, but at the last moment Korda backed out of the deal and asked her to do an Ibsen drama. Friends believe Garbo was so irked at the change in plans she decided to sign with Walter Wagner instead.

HOROSCOPE

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, November 9

A SUDDEN upswing in the affairs may prove thrilling, exciting and of radical and far-reaching scope in bringing about desired change, new ambitions, hopes and wishes. This unforeseen incident could plunge the energies, initiative and abilities into new highs of pleasure and accomplishment, with personal aims and aspirations sharing in these surprising attainments. Public recognition is probable. But all matters may prove romantic and should be developed with zest, ingenuity and concentrated energies.

IF IT IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

Those whose birthday it is, may look for a period of change, fresh fields of operation, new contacts and associations all heightened by the element of romance, strange experiences and a need of accomplishment and recognition, spectacular, breath-taking and perhaps revolutionary or radical in scope. With energetic and zealous enthusiasm, many deeply rooted and desired aspirations and goals may be dramatically fulfilled. Personal, romantic, financial and creative aims should be pushed with unabated drive, for the most dynamic performance and inner joy.

A child born on this day is bounteously equipped for a romantic adventurous and dramatic career, with many changes, honors and highly creative urges finding rich returns and unexpected happiness.
